SENATE OPENS DEBATE ON MERGER BILL

BECK HOME RULE BILL NOW BEFORE TEXAS SENATORS

WOODUL LEADS FIGHT FOR MEASURE; MOORE AND PARRISH OPPOSE IT

AUSTIN, May 7.—(AP)—The senate began considering the Beck home rule resolution.

A proposed constitutional amendment, the resolution would authorize counties with population of 60,000 or more to adopt home rule charters and by vote of the people combine city and county governments.

If passed by the senate the proposed amendment will be submitted to the electorate during the general election of 1932.

Senator Woodul of Houston, senate leader for the Beck resolution, said a move had been started in the house to include counties of less than 60,000 under the resolution. He said the legislature, on two-thirds majority, could at any time vote to permit counties of less than the prescribed population to adopt the home rule plan.

Woodul said the county commissioners court might be the governing body, or the people might select other heads of their government, and that the power to abolish the plan by popular vote always remained with the people.

He said the sovereign powers

CLAIMED HIGHWAY BOND ISSUE IS NOT FINALLY DEAD ISSUE

SHIFT FROM LOSING TO WINNING SIDE AND MOTION TO RECONSIDER MADE

AUSTIN, May 7.—(AP)—Highway bond issue standard bearers were not inclined today to pronounce the $212,000,000 highway bond resolution dead although it fell 12 votes short in the house yesterday of the two-thirds majority necessary to finally pass proposed constitutional amendments.

A quick shift by a proponent from the losing to the prevailing side and a motion to reconsider and spread on the Journal were sufficient to keep the resolution alive and eligible for future consideration.

Meanwhile, proponents and opponents of the highway bond issue were to retrace at least some of their steps today as they lined up to open another chapter in the legislature's fight over highway building and bond retirement programs. The fight was to be confined to the senate, however.

Shortly after members of the senate were advised yesterday of the bond resolution's failure in the house, Senator Pollard of Tyler moved that the senate reconsider the vote by which it refused to print the Brooks bond refunding bill on a minority report. Op-

AMARILLO, May 7.—(AP)—The mangled body of a man identified as R. P. Bales, 40, of Sayre, Okla., was found on the Rock Island railway near Conway, 25 miles eas of here today. J. L. Graham, coroner of Panhandle, returned a verdict of acicdental death, expressing the belief Bales had fallen beneath a moving train.

Bill Haggwood, an Oklahoma City youth, was killed near the same place and in a similar manner, April 6.

One Killed And Four Injured Dallas Crash

DALLAS, May 7.—(AP)—The infant son of Harry Foltz of Borger was dead and his wife and three other children were in serious condition in a hospital here today as a result of a collision late yesterday on the Dallas-Fort Worth pike. The family was en route to Dallas from Borger.

Harold Dean Foltz, five months, died today and his mother was in critical condition from a skull fracture. The three children, Doris May, Anna Belle and Donald suffered broken bones and possibly internal injuries. Foltz, who was riding in another automobile which did not figure in the accident, was unhurt.

Air Forces, in Three-Day Maneuvers, to Theoretically Destroy New York

In one of the most colorful demonstrations in the history of aviation, 672 planes, representing every military classification from light, speedy scouting planes to huge bombers capable of carrying a couple of tons of concentrated destruction, will take part in the United States Air Force three-day maneuvers over New York City, starting May 22. Features of the program will be a daylight and night raid. Captain Albert Stevens, flying a special photographic plane, will photograph at a long range the skyline of New York. Composite picture shows how the armada of the air will look as it soars over Gotham.

HIGHER SPEEDS FOR AUTOS WITH CENTER-RIDGE ROADS PREDICTED BY ENGINEERS

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP)—Higher automobile speeds, with center-ridged highways to make them safe, are predicted in Civil Engineering, the journal of the American Society of Civil Engineers. The forecast is by Maxwell Halsey, traffic engineer of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety underwriters.

"There can be no question," he says, "but that the higher comfortable speeds of inexpensive cars, which constitute some 70 per cent of present registrations, have increased the average highway speed at least 10 miles an hour. Both vehicle and the surface of the highway are capable of permitting the average speed desierd by most motorists, but the design of intersections and straightaways is not such as to make these speeds safe.

"Average highway speeds have not reached their maximum and unless highway design is improved to keep pace with them, more and more accidents will result.

"It is a fundamental principle that safety and facility should be incorporated in the highway during its construction. Roadways should be so built as to make it impossible for the motorist to do the wrong thing.

"Raised center strips will prevent head-on collisions by forcing motorists to drive to the right hand side of the highway, by preventing mid-block turns and by reducing headlight glare. Building of three and four lane highways with the outside lanes of smooth cement and the inside lanes of rough macadam, encourages motorists to use the attractive outside lanes, leaving the center free for passing. Improved shoulders will induce motorists to park off the traveled way."

COLORADO MAN CONFESSES FIRE MURDER OF FAMILY

GREELEY, Colo., May 7.—(AP)—Sheriff W. W. Wyatt announced today that James V. Foster had made "a full and complete confession" to setting his home on fire here early last Tuesday morning, causing the death of his wife and three children.

"I planned this thing for a month," Wyatt said Foster told him. "At first I planned to use acid. I wanted to make it look like my wife had smothered the children and then committed suicide. Then I changed my mind and decided to use gasoline. I thought it would give the same impression.

"I bought the gasoline the night before. I woke up early, went into the childrens' bedroom and poured gasoline in the beds. I set them afire and then threw gasoline on Margaret (Foster's wife). She woke up as I threw a bucket on her. 'My God, Jim, what are you doing,' she screamed at me.

"I don't know why I did it. I must have been crazy. The devil made me do it."

Lightning Sets Fire To Barn at Emhouse

EMHOUSE, May 7.—(Spl.)—Fired by a bolt of lightning, the barn of Pete Harville, about a mile east of Emhouse, was destroyed by fire about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. A quantity of feedstuff and harness was lost but no live stock was injured. The loss was not estimated.

A hard shower fell in the Emhouse vicitity during the afternoon, but no other damage was reported.

OHIO UNIVERSITY STUDENTS PLANNING TRAINING STRIKE

COLUMBUS, O., May 7.—(AP)—The weekly parade drill and review next Wednesday will be the signal for a strike of several hundred Ohio State University students against military training.

The "zero hour" was set at a mass meeting on the campus yesterday amid cheers and jeers and a few scuffles. After the student corps paraded before President Emeritus W. O. Thompson, leaders of the proposed "mutiny" gathered their followers and demanded that military training be optional instead of compulsory.

The movement, however, did not gain full sympathy. A group of uniformed students stood by to jeer and there were scuffles when candidates for "bucket and dipper," campus honorary organization, shouldered through the crowd to distract attention from the speakers.

School officials made no statement.

Derricks Blown Down as Result Border Storm

LAREDO, May 7.—(AP)—Two oil derricks were blown down nine miles south of Mirando City and others were reported damaged during a wind, rain and hail storm which struck the lower Rio Grande valley last night.

Hail the size of marbles fell in a thick downpour, pelting Mirando City for the second time in a week and damaging citrus orchards. Velocity of the wind was estimated as 70 miles an hour and rain amounted to an inch.

INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENT URGED BEFORE WORLD CHAMBER SESSION

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—A general resolution summarizing the world economic situation and suggesting ways of improving it was in process of formulation today in a series of meetings of national committees of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Although differences of opinion were apparent, especially over suggestions for a continuing study of war debts in the light of the decline in commodity prices Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the American section, said "everybody is working toward a common end and when it comes to a showdown, tomorrow or Saturday, there will be no differences of opinion."

The second series of group sessions was scheduled for the afternoon. In one of these it was expected the question would be settled whether the international chamber would be asked to express itself on the proposal of the Chinese delegation for a silver stabilization conference.

President and Mrs. Hoover will receive the delegates at the white house late today and the

Ruth Nichols to Start Flight to Paris In May

HAVRE, France, May 7.—(AP)—Captain H. Railey, manager of Ruth Nichols, said on debarking from the liner Paris today that the American girl flier would make her proposed trans-Atlantic flight from St. Johns, Newfoundland, to Le Bourget, France, between May 20 and June 1.

Miss Nichols will fly from New York to St. Johns on the first lap, Captain Railey said, refuelling there for the ocean hop. She expects to make the flight in about 14 hours, he said, inasmuch as her plane is capable of a speed of 230 miles per hour.

Denies Planning Flight

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP)—Miss Laura Ingalls, aviatrix, denied today she was planning a trans-Atlantic flight in the immediate future. Reports to that effect were published in New York today.

At the same time, Col. Clarence Chamberlin at Jersey City denied that his factory was making a plane for Miss Ingalls for the flight.

Miss Ingalls said plans were being discussed for an ocean flight perhaps later this summer and that "a Wall street firm" was to back it. She declined to give any details.

CLAIMED REDUCED FREIGHT RATES TO BENEFIT KANSAS

TEXAS GRAIN SHIPPERS JOIN WESTERN ROADS IN INJUNCTION EFFORT

CHICAGO, May 7.—(AP)—Texas grain shippers object to the reduced freight rate on grain schedule promulgated by the interstate commerce commission for use June 1 because they believe it gives advantages to shippers of the Kansas City region, it was brought out today in a hearing in U. S. district court where the western railroads seek an injunction against the commission.

GLADEWATER OIL GUSHER FIRE WAS FINALLY SUBDUED

TWO HUNDRED POUNDS OF NITROGLYCERIN SNUFFED OUT SPECTACULAR BLAZE

GLADEWATER, May 7.—(AP)—The lofty pillar of smoke that for eight days had marked the site of the Sinclair No. 1 Cole and was visible as far away as Longview, 20 miles distant, was gone today. The blazing gusher was extinguished last night by a 200-pound nitroglycerin charge.

But the well was still running wild today—the eleventh day since it blew in out of control. Sinclair employes prepared for a new attempt to cap it. A week ago Tuesday, such an attempt touched off the fire that took the lives of nine men.

Harry Kinley, younger of the fire-fighting brothers from Tulsa, snuffed out the blaze last night. Aided by a youngster named Huxley Bunch, who substituted for M. M. Kinley when the latter had his leg broken, Harry placed four 50-pound packs of the explosive in a steel drum beside the well and touched off the charge by electricity.

The blast was heard 20 miles away in Longview. A great um-

Baby Rescued From Bottom of Nebraska Well

GENEVA, Nebr., May 7.—(AP)—While more than 1,000 persons watched, Carroll Brower, 18 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brower was rescued last night by volunteer firemen from an abandoned well into which she had fallen. One leg was slightly bruised in her fall but otherwise she apparently suffered no ill effects.

Working in shifts, the firemen dug a shaft alongside the well, two feet distant. They went down 25 feet and then tunnelled to the bottom part of the well.

The girl's father had driven over the old well with a motor truck, causing a cavein. The child toddled along after the truck and fell through the opening. The hole was not large enough to admit the body of an adult. First workers thought of letting down a rope, then they thought of letting down a boy, but the boys who could get through the hole were not big enough to do the job.

Oklahoma Finds New Angle Slick Estate Inheritance Tax Case

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 7.—(AP)—Melven Cornish, chairman of the Oklahoma tax commission, announced today an affidavit was found which is expected to play a prominent part in the collection of inheritance taxes from the T. B. Slick estate, variously estimated at from $10,000,000 to $50,000,000.

The affidavit was found by Bert Hodges, tax ferret, and purports to state Slick was a resident of Oklahoma county, Cornish said.

Heirs of Slick, oil man known as the "King of Wildcatters," have contended he maintained his official residence in Clarion, Pa., Cornish said, adding that Oklahoma officials have been balked in collection of inheritance taxes by claims of Pennsylvania authorities.

NATIONAL GUARD MARCHES ON KENTUCKY COAL FIELDS WITH MACHINE GUNS; TANK

HARLAN, Ky., May 7.—(AP)—More than 300 members of the Kentucky National Guard, armed with rifles and machine guns and accompanied by a tank, today marched on the coal fields near Evarts, Harlan county, where labor disorders have cost five lives and great destruction of property.

Most of the troops assembled at London last night, then proceeded to Pineville, where they were joined early today by detachments from other cities. Commanding officers at a conference at London planned their campaign against what Gov. Flem D. Sampson called a "reign of terror precipitated by communists and reds" in the mining region.

The program called for a combined march from Pineville to Harlan and thence to Evarts. What they would find in that mining hamlet nestling in the hills was yet to be established. Latest reports last night were that some women and children had evacuated, and that men, many armed, were congregating in the streets, listening to speeches from their leaders on their last night before the invasion of troops. Soon after Sheriff J. H. Blair and Circuit Judge D. C. Jones had said they feared trouble before arrival of the guardsmen, two terrific blasts reverberated through the hills in the direction of Evarts. Deputy sheriffs were sent in an effort to locate the blasts. Other peace officers previously had been dispatched to Evarts to augment the force already on duty there.

Governor Sampson, after calling out the troops, said "they will police the whole community of Evarts, protecting those who behave themselves and taking care of those who do not."

The Harlan county grand jury, summoned in special session by Judge Jones to probe recent lawlessness in the county, was expected to enter its inquiry into the labor disorders today.

BUFFALO ARMORY DESTROYED BY FLAMES WITH LOSS SEVEN MILLION; FIREMEN OVERCOME

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 7.—(AP)—Fire which swept through the 106th Field Artillery Armory here and caused damage estimated by Capt. Wililam Speidel, regimental supply officer of the 106th Artllery, at more than $7,000,000, was completely under control early today.

Capt. Speidel said that, with Capt. Joseph W. Becker of the 174th Regiment, he made an appraisal of the armory and is contents three years ago. He said they appraised the value of the armory alone at $3,000,000 and the equipment at $4,000,000. Captain Speidel said that little equipment was saved and that the armory would be a total loss. Captains Sepidel and Becker are both real estate dealers.

The blaze spread during the night to a nearby church and destroyed the structure. Fire officals estimated this loss at approximately $50,000.

At 8:30 a. m. the ruins were still smouldering but most of the suburban companies summoned to the scene were ordered back to their stations. Of the more than 50 firemen overcome by smoke, all but two had been dscharged from local hospitals.

Minute men of a Legion post were drilling when John D. Marvin, a city fireman off duty and a member of the minute men, dscovered smoke coming out of cracks in the floor of the armory and sounded the alarm.

YOUNG WOMAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED IN PECULIAR WAY

EASTLAND, May 7.—(AP)—A young woman giving the name of Miss June Arnold of Paterson, N. J., was in a critical condition in a hospital here today from a head injury suffered when she struck her head on a sink while working in the kitchen at the hospital. Attending physicians held little hope for her recovery.

She applied to the superintendent of the hospital yesterday for work, saying she had received training as a nurse. She was given temporary work in the kitchen. She stooped to pick up a dish cloth and as she straightened up, struck the back of her head against a sink, the blow knocking her unconscious. She has been rational only at times since then.

During brief rational moments she told hospital attendants and officers that her father, George Edward Arnold, formerly was professor of biology in Columbia University and that he died in 1925, the year she was graduated from a Paterson, N. J., high school. She said her mother was dead and an only brother was killed in the World War. She wore a Masonic ring she said had belonged to her father. Donald Douglass of Akron, Ohio, she said was her guardian but she did not know his address

The woman told of having inherited money from her father's estate but spent it. At the time of her injury here she had only 25 cents in her purse. She said she left Paterson for California last spring in her car but it was stolen in a small town near San Francisco last September. She left California several months ago hitch-hiking across the country. In her purse were names of people in California and Big Spring, Texas.

Oklahoma University President Will Not Resign His Position

NORMAN, May 7.—(AP)—Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the University of Oklahoma, has made known his determination to remain head of the state school.

Breaking the silence he had maintained after the recent legislative investigation of the university affairs, Dr. Bizzell told 1000 students comprising the senior class that he would not give up his post.

"The school has been hurt," he said. "It didn't solve the situation to invite a legislative investigation and to receive exoneration from a body of senators. The report of the exoneration did not carry to all the places the charges did."

CONFESSED SLAYER AGED EMPLOYERS IS IN UNKNOWN PRISON

WATER VALLEY, Miss., May 7.—(AP)—Sam Green, 19, negro houseboy, said by Sheriff C. T. Doyle to have confessed slaying his aged employers with an axe, was safe outside Water Valley today after what the sheriff described as threats of a potential mob.

Crowds gathered yesterday after the sheriff had reported Green' confession that he slew Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wagner Monday night, but the sheriff said no leaders had appeared when he made a plea for the men not to interfere with orderly prosecution of the case.

The crowds slowly dispersed after Doyle had made his plea, and he said he believed the danger of mob action was past.

Green and two other negroes were hidden outside Water Valley today. The sheriff kept their hiding places secret. One negro was arrested on suspicion and the other, Emmett Shaw, 35, a former employe of the slain banker and merchant, was arrested soon after investigation began Monday.

Sheriff Doyle said Green confessed to killing Wagner, 64, and Mrs. Wagner, 60, because of anger and fear aroused by a threatened whipping. Green was house servant in the Wagner home.

The committee agreed to transfer dormitory furniture from Burleson College to the Decatur Baptist College and indorsed a move by Baylor College at Belton to refinance an indebtedness of about $35,000.

AMARILLO CHOSEN AS 1932 MEETING PLACE BY DOCTORS

DR. JOHN H. FOSTER OF MOUSTON NOW PRESIDENT OF STATE BODY

BEAUMONT, May 7.—(AP)—Amarillo was selected as the 1932 meeting place by the house of delegates of the State Medical Association today, just before noon, and Dr. John H. Foster of Houston was named president-elect. Fort Worth was the only other city seeking the 1932 meeting.

Dr. J. W. E. H. Beck of De Kalb, Red River county state senator and surgeon, was nominated for president-elect but withdrew in favor of Dr. Foster before the ballots were cast.

During the business session the convention voted to refer to the council of scientific work for final action a motion recommending sex instruction be provided in public schools.

Sterilization of mentally defective persons also was discussed but the matter was referred to the committee on the care and treatment of mental illnesses.

A resolution was adopted urging the public to seek scientific advice for guidance in matters of patented health foods, which the doctors asserted were flooding the market. Speakers who made up the house of delegates condemned these patented foods, on behalf of organized medical men in the state.

Sympathy For Brooks.

A message of sympathy and condolence also was authorized to be sent from the association to Dr. S. P. Brooks of Waco, president of Baylor University, who was reported as being seriously ill.

Bids for the 1932 convention were placed by Fort Worth, Waco. Lufkin, San Angelo and Galveston but the majority was for the Panhandle city when votes were counted.

Advisory Committee For Gulf Coast Oil Proration Meets

HOUSTON, May 7.—(AP)—An advisory committee of 11, appointed to co-operate with the state railroad commission in making oil proration wholly effective in the Gulf Coast area, met in executive session here today. R. H. Hargrove of Houston is chairman.

The committee had before it the task of determining what immediate step might be recommended to bring the area's production down to the 140,000 barrel daily allowable set by the commission in its recent statewide order. The alowable is being exceeded by some 20,000 barrels.

A recommendation that the commission issue a supplementary order was believed a possibility.

The advisory committee was appointed here at a general meetng of Gulf Coast operators, called by the railroad commission, last Saturday.

Frank A. Leffingwell of Dallas, representing the Terminal Grain company of Fort Worth, which has a separate suit pending against the commission, asked leave to consolidate that action with the railways' suit.

He said the differentials between grain shipping rates in his territory and the Kansas City territory would give advantages to the latter which they did not now enjoy. Judge Walter C. Lindley interposed a question.

"Do you mean that Texas men want this injunction and Kansas City men do not?"

"Yes," replied Leffingwell.

Counsel for the government entered an objection to consolidation of the Texas case with that of railroads, and argued that the Terminal Grain company had no right to fail a separate suit but should come into the railway injunction proceedings as an intervenor.

The court, three federal judges sitting in banc, reserved judgment on the Texas petition.

A request for a week's continuance was denied Ralph Merriam, attorney for the Kansas City Board of Trade. Merriam asked the recess in order to study the arguments advanced yesterday by Frederick Wood, counsel for the seventy-two railroads seeking to block the reduced grain rates.

H. L. Underwood, attorney for the interstate commerce commission began the government's argument by quoting the commission as saying the new rates would save the railroads money by reforming certain transit practices, such as making unnecessary free stops for grain.

Underwood quoted from the argument made yesterday on behalf of the railways by Attorney Frederick H. Wood. The railroad counsel had stopped just short of accusing the I. C. C. of trying to defraud the railroads, Underwood said, and he had all but charged the commission with bad faith in the performance of its duties.

Judge Walter C. Lindley interrupted at one point to ask Attorney Underwood if it were not true that the commission must consider rates on other products when arriving at rates on grain.

Underwood replied he was not prepared to answer at the time but that 'the point would be brought out fully later.

The government attorney said the ralirlads' argument could be summed up as follows: "So long as the railroads do not earn 5 3-4 per cent net operating income, the commission cannot lower rates."

"The findings of the interstate commerce commission were conclusive," he said. "The commission set the rates. If they are to get any revision, it is up to the railroads to prove that the commission legally erred."

CHICAGO, May 7.—(AP)—Three judges, sitting en banc, heard counsel for Western railroads yesterday charge the interstate commerce commission with overstepping its legal bonds in directing the jublication June 1 of reduced grain rates.

The hearing, in which 80 of the nation's carriers are seeking to enjoin the establishment of lower tariffs, was held in the United States district court.

Kansas, in a separate petition filed for its public service commission, challenged the jurisdiction of the court and asserted that in contrast with the railway's contention, certain of the carriers loading 70 per cent of the Kansas grain crops have shown improved financial conditions.

Frederick W. Wood, New York attorney, was on the witness stand when the hearing closed yesterday. He was ready to resume his testimony today.

brella-shaped yellow blaze was blown upward for 200 feet, the most dazzling display since the well caught fire. The next instant there was darkness, intensified by memory of the glare that had come from the well.

Sergeant M. T. (Lone Wolf) Gonzaullas of the Texas rangers headed a squad of men who kept guard about the well last night. Gas hung all about the scene, needing only a spark to kill another crew of workmen. No one was allowed to carry matches within a mile of the well and automobiles were parked far away.

Today the crew prepared to slide a new derrick over the well, still spouting oil 50 feet into the air from the crater left by the explosion. Workmen carried specially made brass tools to prevent another fatal spark in this new attempt to cap the gusher.

REGULATION FARM PRODUCTS ON HUGE SCALE ADVOCATED

congress banquet will be held tonight.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—Agreement among agricultural nations, including Soviet Russia, to regulate farm production to consumption was proposed before the International Chamber of Commerce today by Alfred Falter, chairman of the Polish delegation.

Joining Dr. H. L. Russell, former dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, in the belief that the problem for world farmers is to readjust production to existing needs, Falter said it was "obvious that the world-wide agricultural crisis may only be solved by international means based on a world-wide scale."

The proposed agreement, he said, should "encompass on one hand the adaptation of the production to the consumption by means of organizing such production wth a view to its regulation, and on the other hand should aim to a proper organization of commerce in order to avoid unnecessary disturbances of the markets through diverse actions and individual methads."

Such a plan would not be feasible without Soviet participation, he said, adding:

"Irrespective of the final result which Russia may attain by her planned economic and agricultural activity, the effect of such an activity must, ithout the slightest doubt, make it impossible for the orld, as long as it remains in its present disordered condition, to check the actual crisis."

All Must Join.

Russell said no country could attempt to limit its acreage unless the same restrictions were applied by others. The recent internatlonal conference at Rome, he added, "ran into trouble in this particular" when the Soviets refused to resrict their wheat.

Russell assailed federal farm relief as temporary, artificial stimlulation that only postpones inevitable readjustments and a permanent cure.

What the farm world wants is a "moratorium on nature's operations for a year," said.

As for farm tariffs, Russell said America had acted no differently than other countries, Germany having raised her duty on wheat over 230 per cent in the last sixteen months so that today it is $1.62 a bushel, or nearly twice the world market price. He also recalled that the French duty had been increasew by 400 per cent in less than four years.

"Under the guise of relief to agriculture, higher and higher tariff walls have been built," he said. "These tariff barriers,  have caused numerous reprisals on the part of other countries, making international exchange increasingly difficult."

Form Organization For Lower Tariffs

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP)— A group of economists, editors and lawyers has notified the International Chamber of Commerce, now meeting in Washington, of the formation of a non-political American organization known as the Council for Tariff Reduction.

It will press upon congress "the absolute need of prompt action at its approaching session in the reduction of the tariff of 1930, the ill effects of which have been immediately evident both within our borders and in international relatons."

"Scandals connected with tariff making have for the first time in many years awakened public interest in the tariff," adds the letter of notification.

WICKERSHAM URGES LAW INSTITUTE TO AID CRIME FIGHT

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—Chief Justice Hughes today recommended to the American law institute that "an adequate organization" be maintained in the department of justice for the collection and arrangement of criminal statistics.

George W. Wickersham, chairman of the law enforcement commission, who spoke before the chief justice, urged the institute to begin an intensive study of criminal law with the view to aiding in the fight on crime.

The chief justice said the criminal statistics published by the government had been severely criticized in a report of the law enforcement commission.

"The report makes it evident" the chief justice said, "as it seems to me, that we can expect but slight, if any, improvement in our statistical methods unless an adequate organization is maintained for this purpose in the department of justice, with a supervising staff through which accurate, comprehensive and uniform statistics can be obtained. Pending such an organization, some improvement may be possible, but I do not think that it will amount to much."

The chief justice said that the supreme court was "as nearly up to date in the hearing of cases on our docket as is practicable."

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—Chairman Wickersham of the law enforcement commission today urged the American law institute to enlist its scholarship and research in the fight on crime.

Wickersham, who also is president of the institute, said in opening its ninth annual session that he felt the time had come for an intensive study and clarification of criminal law, and asked the institute to undertake the work.

"The time for such action is peculiarly opportune," he said, adding that the work of the law enforcement commission would come to an end next June 30. He said reports on some of its crime studies would be issued soon and that the information should be helpful in the law observance problem.

"The work of the national commission should be of great value to those who undertake such further effort. Indeed, some such body as this institute must undertake the necessary constructive follow-up work, if the labors of the national commission are to fructify into the most useful results."

GRAVE POLITICAL SITUATION ARISES FROM ARGENTINE

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, May 7.—(AP)—The Argentine political situation was characterized today by tourists from Buenos Aires as developing along grave lines.

President Jose Uriburu was reported to have instructed the interventor of Buenos Aires province the federal president's representative) to suspend the electoral college when it meets next Wednesday to elect a governor in accordance with the recent provincial elections.

All other provincial elections will be postponed until after the national legislative elections, the date for which has not been fixed, it was said.

The newspaper La Critica, influential Spanish language daily, has been suspended for an indefinite period and its editor, Natalio Botana, has been ordered to leave the country within 24 hours. La Critica has been strong in its criticism of the Uriburu regime.

President Uriburu was described as having taken a firmer grasp on the reins of power, counting on the army to support him. An organization numbering about 15,000 men and modelled along Fascist lines was said to be organizing with the expectation of siding with Uriburu in case of trouble.

Heavy Increase in Wheat Crop Predicted

ENID, Okla., May 7.—(AP)—John Manley, manager of the Oklahoma Wheat Growers' association, estimated today that the 1931 Oklahoma wheat crop would total 52,000,000 bushels. The Texas crop, he said, should approach 45,000,000 bushels.

Oklahoma produced 32,000,000 bushels last year, Texas 22,000.

The estimate was based on the present condition of the crop.

ponents of the bond issue said since the bond resolution had failed they were ready to launch a program to bring some relief to Texas counties voting funds for state highway building. Pollard notified the senate he would call up his motion today.

The house voted to extend the session through May 22. The original date carried in the resolution which the house adopted was May 12, but an amendment extending the session ten days was adopted. The senate took no action on the resolution. Members said adoption by the senate would automatically set the adjournment date.

The adjournment desolution was listed on the senate calendar today.

Would Increase Patrol.

The senate passed a bill by Senator Williamson of San Antonio which would increase the personnel of the state highway patrol from 50 to 150 men. Williamson's original bill sought to increase the total to 200, but he agreed to an amendment fixing the number at 150. Deadlocked over salaries of the chief of the patrol and his force, the senate finally adopted an amendment by Senator Woodruff of Decatur empowering the legislature to determine the amount of pay each should draw.

Representative Howsley of Albany introduced the house's 1,052nd bill of the session late yesterday. It would prohibit production of oil "beyond reasonable market demand," prevent granting of injunctions against the railroad commission without a hearing and ten days' notice, and give oil injunction cases priority in the courts. The bill brought protest from Carl Estes, secretary of the East Texas Lease, Royalty and Producers' Association, who characterized it as "iniquitous," and an attempt of the Standard Oil Company to control production in Texas.

AUSTIN, May 7.—(AP)—Another proposed constitutional amendment was on its way to the people today.

The senate voted 30 to 0 to submit to the electorate in November, 1932, a proposed constitutional amendment by Representative Anderson of San Antonio requiring taxpayers to render their property for taxation before becoming eligible to vote in bond elections. The resolution also was passed by the house.

An amendment which would impose the limitations on voters voting in state-wide bond election was shorn from the bill on request of Senator DeBerry of Bogata, author of the amendment. The DeBerry amendment was adopted unanimously by the senate earlier in the week.

AWARD BRIDGE CONTRACT.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 7.—(AP)—The state highway commission today awarded a contract for construction of a free bridge over the Red River between Jackson county, Oklahoma, and Wilbarger county, Texas, to W. S. Crawford of Dallas.

SOLE SURVIVOR OF "LAST MAN'S CLUB" GOES BACK TO BATTLEFIELD WHERE FOUGHT

By BESS FURMAN

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—Charles M. Lockwood today came back to the battlefields where he fought 70 years ago, bringing a little bottle of wine.

It will go with him on his reminiscent pilgrimage—symbol of the 35 veterans of Company B, First Minnesota, whose chairs were draped in black last July 21 when 88-year-old Lockwood answered to the last roll call of the Last Mans' club and drank alone the toast to departed comrades.

That was on the anniversary of Bull Run's first battle, the date on which the diminishing group held a banquet for 46 years.

To that wine about which his company annually gathered, Lockwood gave credit for creating a fellowship well worth while, despite its inevitable tincture of sadness.

He reviewed again today for reporters the history of the club, described again with vibrant voice and glowing eyes the scene of that last banquet when the secretary called the entire roll, and he was the only one responding, "I am here, sir!"

"It makes a fellow think—watching them drop out that way, one at a time," he said. "I guess maybe I didn't spoil much whiskey in my lifetime for that very reason. I'd no idea I'd be the last one when it started. Some were as young as I was.

"But getting together that way every year kept us all mighty close. We didn't forget much. That's why I'm going over the whole ground again."

Lockwood expects to tramp over the fields where the First Minnesota fought, locating what happened by the terrain.

"And at Bull Run, I ran—plenty fast when we got the order!" he chuckled, "but I did stop to care for a couple of wounded first."

Captain Lockwood, whose thick-growing hair somehow forgot to turn gray, was always a campaigner, ready to take on new projects. For years it was town politics out in Chamberlain, South Dakota, then he turned to Indian trading, in which he was briskly engaged at the age of 75.

"I swore off smoking a few months ago—thought it would be better for me," said Lockwood.

But with a sly litle wink of the left eye he later admitted that maybe he did chew—just a little.

The soldiers reached Harlan from 15 Kentucky cities in the biggest military movement in the state since 1921 when 750 soldiers were sent to Newport to quell disorders, and 1926 when a similar number went to Lexington to guard a negro slayer.

Adjuant General W. H. Jones, Jr., came to Harlan to supervise plans for the placing of the soldiers. They will be commanded by Col. Dan Carrell, commanding the 138th field artillery and a veteran of the Mexican border trouble and of the warld war.

The order for the troop movement was issued yesterday by Gov. Flem D. Sampson after a conference with labor leaders and requests from civil authorities and residents of Harlan.

The chief executive termed the Evarts situation as "a state of terror and lawlessness" and added "this must stop and stop now."

The disorders in Harlan county have been blamed on unemployment due to economic conditions and to disagreements between coal mine operators and employes as the basis for discontent.

The situation has been the subject of investigation by Red Cross workers, mine union officials and civil authorities. Several organized demands for food have been made by unemployed miners, some of whom have been evicted from mine owned houses.

Governor Sampson charged the trouble to "undesirable citizens from other states." "Some are said to belong to those societies called 'reds' and 'communists,'" the governor added.

The troop movement started last night and included a military police company, infantry, cavalry and medical units. The equipment included rifles, side arms, a tank and howitzers.

Prepare For Entry

HARLAN, Ky., May 7.—(AP)—More than 200 members of the Kentucky national guard, the first contingent to arrive for duty in the coal fields, reached Harlan shortly after 8 o'clock this morning.

The troopers milled about the streets as military and civil officers conferred on their plan for movement into the Evarts section, nine miles away.

Reports that armed men were perched atop houses and at other vantage points around Evarts continued to reach authorities here today. All women have been sent out of Evarts, the reports said.

E. Jackson and Miss Iva Chapman of the C. I. A. faculty were on the program for lectures during the afternoon.

GENERAL SMEDLEY BUTLER SERVED AS SPY IN MEXICO WILSON'S ADMINISTRATION

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—(AP)—Major General Smedley, D Butler served in 1914 in Mexico as a spy obtaining information for President Wilson at a time when relations with the Mexican government headed by Victoriano Huerta were strained.

The general posed as a bibliophile, an eccentric entomologist, a capitalist, a secret service operative, an author and an accountant.

While intoxicated, Huerta signed an order giving the marine officer power to enter every army barracks in Mexico City. The mission won Butler his first congressional medal of honor.

General Butler told the story last night in addressing the annual dinner of the Unity Stores Association.

Posing as a detective looking for a murderer from Ohio who was believed to have joined the Mexican army, Butler said he gained the confidence of one of Huerta's aides. This aide finally obtained for him an audience with President Huerta.

"Huerta was lying in his bed at Chapultepec Palace, drunk," Butler declared. "I actually sat on the edge of his bed, and I prepared an order which he signed, giving me free access to every one of the 23 or 24 garrisons in the city and to examine every man at close range, examine the equipment and count the guns.

"This yarn hasn't hitherto been published, so I don't know whether the Mexican ambassador to the United States will take a shot at it or not. I suppose before telling it, I really ought to jump down to Mexico City and see if the palace really is there."

The general referred to the recent "Haitian incident" in which the Haitian minister to the United States said he did not know of the existence of Fort Riviere, a Haitian bandit stronghold, for whose capture Butler and two of his men received congressional medals of honor.

General Butler said his secret mission in Mexico was ordered by President Woodrow Wilson and that it was necessary because the exact military strength which Huerta could put in the field, together with the defenses of the city, was unknown to American military commanders. He said war with Mexico was imminent because of the "Vera Cruz incident" and that the American fleet lay in Vera Cruz harbor.

Haiti Fort Incident Of Butler Closed

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—Secretary Stimson announced today that the note of Minister Bellegarde of Haiti was considered by the state department to end satisfactorily the incident caused by the protest of Major-General Smedley D. Butler of the marine corps against remarks about him made by the minister.

The secretary has informed Secretary Adams that he considers the minister's explanation of the remarks attributed to him in an interview satisfactorily closed the matter.

The minister in the interview published in the Washington Herald was alleged to have claimed that Fort Riviere, for the capture of which Butler was awarded a congressional medal of honor, was non-existent.

In his note to the department in response to a request for an explanation, the minister said he had not attempted to reflect on the general, but had merely said he did not know of the existence of the fort.

of the state would never be endangered, that the resolution carried a protective amendment stating such powers should never be suborinated to the home rule plan.

Senator Moore of Greenville said he saw "a bunch of stiff-collared, stiff-backed dictators" sitting at oak desks excluding the rural populace from a say in the operation of their government.

Moore charged the phraseology of the resolution was vague and that it had never been satisfactorily explained. He also said rural districts would be forced to assume a share of the bonded indebtedness of the cities to which they were annexed.

Senator Parrish of Lubbock said adoption of the proposed amendment meant "good bye to legislative control over counties." He said only the cities were asking for such an amendment and that the rural populace would have no say under such a government project.

Senator Loy of Sherman sought to amend the resolution by increasing the population figure to 75,000. The amendment was pending at noon.

The house debated all morning on a bill by Senator Hardin to establish a division of child welfare in the board of control. Two amendments by Representative Pope of Corpus Christi were defeated. One would have placed the division in charge of the superintendent of the State Orphanage at Waco and the other would have eliminated the appropriations for the division.

The bill was engrossed, 93 to 25, and the rule suspended 103 to 23.

A resolution by Rep. Fuchs of Brenham asking cooperation of all agencies to prevent soil erosion was adopted. The state soil and water conservation committee was requested to cooperate with farm organizations and agencies to reduce erosion and loss of fertility.

County Club Women Go Denton Thursday

A number of representatives of Women's Home Demonstration Clubs of Navarro county left early Thursday morning for Denton to attend the short course at the Texas College for Women. Approximately twenty-five had announced their intention of making the trip. They will return Thursday night.

"WHEN I was a child, if I did not feel well, or if I had a cold, my mother gave me Black-Draught," says Mrs. Orpha Hill, of Wofford, Ky. "When I was married, it became a family medicine in my own home, as it was in my mother's.

"I take it for headache and especially for constipation. When I get bilious, my skin gets yellow and I have a very bad taste in my mouth, and a drowsy feeling all during the day. My eyes burn and I get dizzy, or my head is 'swimming.' When I take Black-Draught, it seems to drive the impurities out of my system and I feel fine. I am seldom without this reliable remedy."

WEIGHT AS A MEASURE OF TIRE QUALITY IS NOT INCLUDED IN TABLE FOR TWO REASONS:

1st, Because no two tires of the same brand and size weight exactly alike, and

2nd, Because quality of rubber and cotton fabric used, rather than the compounded weight after being mixed with other ingredients is the determining factor. Reclaimed or second hand rubber weighs more than new rubber. Tires containing a large percentage of second hand rubber, therefore, weigh more than those made entirely of new rubber—even though the tires are exactly alike in size—so "Weight as a standard by which to measure tire quality MEANS NOTHING."

The TRAIL BLAZER is Ward's second quality tire. We frankly admit But—certain manufacturers and dealers, jealous of Ward's deserved preeminence in the tire industry, are making and publishing misleading statements about Ward's tires. They give specifications which are NOT those of Ward's tires; and they then compare the prices of their second quality tires with those of our first quality tires—the famous Riversides. The table above shows accurately the manner in which TRAIL BLAZERS compare in quality and in price with other well known makes.

These other misleading advertisements (and if they are not intended to deliberately fool tire consumers, what IS their purpose?) also say that "Mail Order tires are made by some unknown manufacturer.. " Well, Ward's tires are made by one of the largest tire companies in the world; a company that has always been famous for the fine quality of its products!

Here, therefore, is the correct story about Ward's TRAIL BLAZERS: They are every bit as good as other second quality tires (better than most, as the chart above will indicate), but they sell for less. Like all of Ward's tires, TRAIL BLAZERS are sold with an absolute guarantee of satisfactory service without limit as to time or mileage. If you do not need Riverside quality, buy Trail Blazers—and save more money!

No Montgomery Ward tire advertisement is complete without mentioning Ward's famous first quality Riversides. Riverside tires are one of the best known brands in America. They have been sold for 19 years. They, too, are made by the same large tire manufacturer mentioned above. They are the finest quality it is possible to produce. They are backed by the most liberal tire guarantee ever written. And they sell for less than any first quality nationally advertised tire on the market! These sound like sensational claims. But Montgomery Ward & Co.—one of the largest and oldest merchandising institutions in the world—now in its 60th year in business—the originators of the "Satisfaction Guaranteed or your Money Back" guarantee—stands back of every claim made in this advertisement.

COMPARE

SIZE	WARD'S Trail Blazer	Firestone Oldfield Goodyear Pathfinder Goodrich Defiance
29x4.40/21	$4.55	$4.98
30x4.50/21	5.15	5.69
28x4.75/19	5.95	6.65
29x5.00/19	6.30	6.98

Not all sizes have been listed—but enough to give an idea of how prices compare. And by the way, Ward's prices are even LESS when you buy in PAIRS!

FAMILY REUNIONS.

Family ties are said not to be as close as they used to be, and yet many families are having reunions where a large number of near and distant relatives are gathered together. Interest in genealogical research is said to be increasing, and many people want to learn who their ancestors were and where they came from, and the desire to know the members of one's old family tribe will never disappear.

An obstacle in the way of such associations is created by the scattering of families all over the country. Where a family formerly settled down in its home town or near by, the present generation is likely to scatter all over the land, and some may go to foreign nations. Yet as people travel more easily than formerly, many may come from distant points when the tribe holds its powwow.

It may be said that the tie that holds these distant relatives together is not close, since the people who assemble in an annual family gathering may never meet elsewhere, and may not feel any particular congeniality of temperament. And yet anything rooted so deeply in old traditions as the ties of family relationship must still be much of a power.

Back in old history people looked to their families for protection. Tribe fought against tribe, and if you were attacked and your safety assailed, your government might not be able to do anything for you, but your kinsmen would rally and beat off the tribe that menaced you.

Those old times or tribal warfare are happily gone forever. But the members of a family tribe now can reflect that they no doubt share certain traits handed down from common ancestors. Hence they should have ideas in common, and when they get together they should have important elements of congeniality that run deep in their natures.

A TECHNICAL OFFENSE.

Ignorance of the law being no excuse, the levying of a $500 fine on Bernt Balchen for landing his plane on American soil without permission upon his return from St. Johns, New Brunswick, is a justifiable enforcement of aircraft customs regulations.

But Balchen went to Canada on a mission of humanity, to search for members of the disastrous Viking expedition that came to grief on the ice-bound regions off the Newfoundland coast. His plane was American; he departed from and returned to Boston, and his violation of the customs rules was purely technical.

His complaint that payment of the fine out of his own pocket would be "pretty tough in these times" is reasonable. The penalty can be remitted by a stroke of the pen. The nature of his mission entitles this distinguished airman to special consideration.

Most people are such silly creatures. Few are sensible enough to believe exactly as you do.

All compliments received are the property of the person giving them and should be returned.

One fine thing about stopping at hotels is you don't have to wash out the bath tub.

A man around the house during the day is useless. Every home should be without one.

JUST FOLKS

EVOLUTION OF THE FAPPER.

The flapper of yesterday worried her mother,
And worried her grandma and worried her brother;
Her dress was outrageous; her conduct seemed bold.
She was the constant despair of the old,
And they oft sat together as the grownups will do
To wonder "whatever that child's coming to."

Today as I strolled on a bungalow street
This young woman in question I happened to meet
She was pushing a little pink carriage wherein
A baby was nestled tucked up to the chin,
And she lifted a blanket and gave me a peep
As the cute little rascal than lay there asleep.

She urged me to look at his dear little nose;
She forced me to gaze on his fingers and toes;
She talked of his feedings, and pinching his cheek
She boasted the pound he gained a week,
And she said in the way that all fond mothers do:
"He never gets cross and he sleeps the night through."

I thought as I left her, the frivolous day
Like everything else comes and hurries away.
The oldsters may think that the world's gone to pot;
That the virtues they've preached are wiped out, but the're not.
For the best of our customs and manners survive
And they all get old-fashioned when babies arrive.

MORE "HUMANIZING."

The English are actually becoming human. The transition was complete when they permitted material expediency to take precedence over English pride and dignity and place a bushel over that traditional British superiority complex. Before the world knows it, it will no longer be a crime to speak to a nobleman without a formal introduction.

Here is the telltale evidence. Travelers in England are no longer to be described on their passports and visas as "aliens." Henceforth they will bear the friendly label of "visitor." Even the notices posted in passport offices will be addressed to "foreign visitors."

"Alien" radiated no cordiality of welcome and implied a sort of condescension, even contempt. Suspicion of strangers and a sense of superiority toward those of other race and country stood out all over it.

The prejudices upon which these antagonisms and antipathies were based have faded in recent years due to the war and the mutual understanding fostered by a more numerous exchange of travelers.

Cynicism has no part in the view that this new friendliness and cordiality is prompted largely by business necessity. England is not getting as much as she would like to have of the rich American tourist trade. Therefore no stone is to be left unturned until all transatlantic liners put in at her ports. She has just turned the stone of good will.

A MAJESTIC CAPITAL

A recent newspaper supplement article on the national capital began with the statement, "The city of Washington has never been able to live up to the majestic plan of its founder, nor to live it down. For 150 years the federal city has struggled with and against the magnificence of its specifications in the same way that the nation has struggled with that other spacious contemporary formula, the federal constitution."

But the day is coming when Washington will be able to live up to the majestic plan of L'Enfant. For the first time in history congress is willing to appropriate uncounted millions for a building program on the grand scale. A start has been made to make Washington the most beautiful and sublime capital in the world. It will take years—perhaps generations—to finish, but the finished picture will dazzle by the long defile of plaster palaces marching beside a Mall miraculously cleared of all that now encumbers it.

The real pressure behind the new Washington is the new Washington. Much has been said since the world war of the United States as a great world power, perhaps the greatest. But that conception of our place in the international scheme is new to Americans, and in the country at large has been discounted as political hyperbole. Very slowly the legend has acquired the vitality of a fact, predicated not upon a vague political pre-eminence but upon the clear evidence of our mechanistic supremacy.

GOVERNORS' OPPORTUNITY.

Excessive cost of state, county and municipal governments was placed at the head of public problems by the governors in their addresses to the legislatures this year, and by the legislatures in the press of bills and prolonged debate. But apparently the evil is still with us, for the conference of governors in Indiana in June will place it at the head of its program.

This conference may be no more fruitful of practical results than its predecessors, but there is promise in the note of earnestness observed in its program.

State lawmaking bodies have accomplished little in the way of governmental economy and tax reduction, perhaps for the reason that they do not know where to begin. So it is proposed that the conference of governors fire the starting gun by pointing the way with some uniform action or program.

Former governors and governors-elect will be invited to this year's conference for the purpose of taking advantage of the experience of the former and instructing the latter. It should prove a bigger and better conference.

If the state executives earnestly desire to vindicate their yearly conferences, there is no better way than by providing the lever for lifting a part of the tax burden from the shoulders of the people and business.

PAYING IN HUMAN MISERY.

Latest and most convincing of attacks on the tariff inflicted upon the world by the Hoover administration comes from the Carnegie Foundation, whose investigators never go off half cocked. Its conclusions usually come last, but they are as dependable as the tides and as searching.

After studying the effects of the 1930 tariff upon world business and its relation to the world-wide depression, the foundation announced.

"Following passage of the act there came from every corner of the world a volume of angry protest and retaliation which has not diminished to this day. The act was a blow struck by one nation at the economic stability of 60 nations."

Economists traced step by step the processes of economic dislocation leading from the enactment of this insane and selfish legislation to the prostration of business the world over. Now they can with certainty point the finger of guilt at those responsible.

It matters little now whether the protectionists believed a higher tariff would restore prosperity or acted solely upon selfish motives. The world is paying the cost in human misery. They face an accusing jury of 17,000,000 unemployed in six leading industrial nations.

REPUBLICAN HERESY.

Before business collapsed there was none so farsighted as to predict that within a few months a member of the Republican Old Guard, would publicly admit that the country has gone the limit in tariff protection and must backtrack. And yet such a conversion has taken place.

This neophyte is none other than Congressman Snell, of New York, chairman of the rules committee of the house, who helped force through the abortive Hawley-Smoot tariff bill and blocked a full debate on the measure in the house.

His confession of heresy is:

"For many years, on account of our natural resources and by means of a protective tariff, we have artificially maintained a higher standard of living than in other countries, but we have gone the limit in a tariff, our natural advantages are being depleted, and it will be necessary that the next generation govern its economic standards and living conditions more in accord with worldwide conditions than we have done in the past."

And only a few months ago the gentleman from New York and some of his colleagues were predicting the return of prosperity within 60 days after the Hawley-Smoot tariff became effective. But an honest confession is good for the soul of even a politician.

Will the G. O. P. high-protectionists make as much noise about this desertion from their ranks as they did when some of the traditional free-trade sections asked for a little tariff protection two years ago? Their insinuations that the Snell statement is merely a play for the speakership indicates they will continue playing ostrich.

The older the argument the harder it falls.

CODIFYING HUMAN RACE.

A situation exists today which the primitive founders of the English language could not possibly have fereseen. The makers could not have foretold the English colonization of America and Australia and the carrying of the language into the four corners of the earth, nor could they have accurately calculated the future growth of the world's population. Their lack of foresight resulted in a woeful dearth of proper and surnames.

In the early days of the language the catalog of clan names kept pace with the growth of population, but even it it hadn't each Smith, Jones and Johnson moved only in the orbit of his little village, so no confusion of names and identities arose. But today in England alone there are 530,000 people named Smith, and of these 204,000 are J. Smith, 41,000 are John Smith, 30,000 are J. W. Smith and 5,000 John William Smith.

An English inventor has conceived a plan which, if universally adopted, would eliminate all the confusion, annoyance and loss now resulting from the similarity in names. His scheme is to supplement personal names by a code designation, to which he has given the name "monomark." Each person would be given a monomark and would be registered under that mark at a central headquarters. Use of the mark on jewelry, baggage, stationary, mail and other articles and property would make it as simple to find the owner of a lost article as to locate the owner of an automobile.

The Englishman's system is ingenious and may eventually be found indispensable, but a greater exercise of ingenuity and originality on the part of parents would make the codification of human beings unnecessary.

The man who counts a hundred before acting generally finds some one else has acted first.

God made the country; picnic parties messed it up that way.

CORSICANA STORE ROUNDS OUT FIFTY YEARS OF SERVICE

MARKS BROTHERS TO FITTINGLY OBSERVE GOLDEN JUBILEE IN CORSICANA

Fifty years uninterrupted service to the citizens of Corsicana and Navarro county is the record of the pioneer firm of Marks Brothers, who are now beginning the celebration of their golden jubilee.

With a great amount of pride, Sydney Marks, head of the Corsicana store, narrated the early history of the establishment to a representative of the Corsicana Daily Sun Tuesday morning. The longevity of the life of the firm is almost startling when statistics show that in the past quarter of a century the average life of a firm is fifteen years.

In 1881 Benjamin Marks moved to Corsicana from Austin, and leased a store building then under construction owned by the late Judge E. J. Simkins. The building was leased in the month of May for the sum of $30 per month and in August of that year Mr. Marks opened a dry goods store known as the New York Store. The first site of the store was the building now occupied by J. C. Penney Company and A. S. Genecov, but a few months later it moved to the building recently occupied by the R. L. Reese Jewelry Company, where it remained for 19 years, moving back to its first location for another long period which ended in 1925 when the firm moved into its present quarters.

Calls in Sons.

In 1906 having built his store up to a safe point, Mr. Marks turned the business over to his two eldest sons, A. E. and Mendel. As each of the boys grew older, he entered the business. In 1914, the stock of the Murphy Dry Goods Company of Sherman was purchased and since that time, both stores have been operated in a progressive manner, with A. E. and Abe in charge of the Sherman business, and the Corsicana store conducted by Sydney and Mendel.

When the firm was first established as the New York Store, the main portion of the business section was located in the vicinity of the old courthouse square, and the original Marks homestead is now the site of the Odd Fellows building at the intersection of West Third Avenue and Beaton Street. The building now occupied by the R. E. Cox Dry Goods Company was a theatre in the early history of Corsicana.

In 1906 the stock of the store was valued at $13,000 and the entire staff of the store was comprised of members of the family. Last year the two stores in Corsicana and Sherman did more than a million dollar business and their employes ran well over the 100 mark. It was the first firm in this section of Texas to maintain a New York office and have New York connections, and they have maintained the same buying organization for more than twenty years, giving the store the advantage of expert buying advice from specialists in every line of merchandise.

Watch Growth of City.

Sydney Marks said Tuesday that the firm had been privileged to watch the growth of Corsicana from a small town to a modern city, and that it had been their pleasure to have a part in the progress and upbuilding of the municipality. He declared that all of the profits of the store had been reinvested in Corsicana and Navarro county, and were subject to taxation in this county.

In an effort to express their appreciation to the public for its support for half a century, Mr. Marks said that the firm had decided to make its entire stock of merchandise available to the public at cost prices, asking no more for their goods than the manufacturer's cost and the cost of handling it to Corsicana.

Mr. Marks also expressed the hope that the store would be privileged to continue its service to the people of Corsicana for many years more, and to aid in every way possible every worthwhile civic, charitable and philanthropic enterprise.

OUTRIGHT REPEAL 18TH AMENDMENT GOAL CRUSADERS

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—Outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment was announced today as the goal of the Crusaders, an anti-prohibition organization of young men.

This objective was made known by Julian Codman, national commander of the Crusaders. He denied vigorously that repeal would result in return of the saloon.

"In the days before the passage of the eighteenth amendment," Codman said, "many more than 50 per cent of the licensed saloons, and especially those of the lower type, were either owned or controlled by the brewing interests and used as an outlet for their products.

"In many cases, the brewers actually owned the premises, paid for the licenses and secured themselves by a chattel mortgage on the furniture and fixtures.

"This whole system has been done away with by 11 years of prohibition.

"The capital involved has either been lost or has been transferred to other gainful ends. To re-establish this system even under the most favorable conditions would take years and a great deal of capital."

Codman added that the country's "drys" would be joined by "the official wet organizations" in opposing return of the saloon.

In announcing their stand for repeal, the Crusaders declared their belief that this would be achieved "within the next few years."

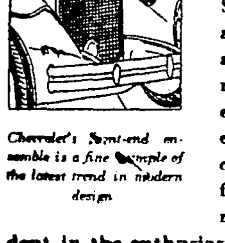
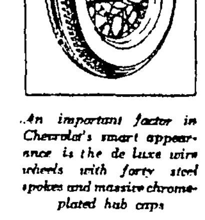
Chevrolet
has struck a popular new note
in motor-car styling



Chevrolet's front-end ensemble is a fine example of the latest trend in modern design

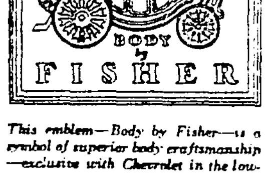
Many factors have contributed to the remarkably widespread popularity of the new Chevrolet Six. Among these are smooth performance, low price, matchless economy, exceptional riding ease and driving comfort. But no feature has been more strikingly evident in the enthusiastic public reception of the car than its smart new style.

Fisher Body craftsmen, with their background of fine-car designing, have made this new Chevrolet an exceptionally attractive automobile. Study it from any angle and you find it extremely pleasing. Look at it from the front and you are impressed by the modish ensemble of deep radiator, large headlamps and arched tie bar—all gleaming in rich chromium plate. Viewed from the side, the long hood, low-swung body lines, sweeping fenders and massive wire wheels strikingly suggest the car's fleetness and power. And the appeal of Chevrolet's beauty is made more pronounced by the fact that all models are available in a variety of colors.



An important factor in Chevrolet's smart appearance is the de luxe wire wheels with forty steel spokes and massive chrome-plated hub caps

Interiors, too, are unusual in every way. The upholstery is carefully tailored. Seats are roomy, deeply cushioned and invitingly soft. And the interiors are tastefully appointed.



This emblem—Body by Fisher—is a symbol of superior body craftsmanship—exclusive with Chevrolet in the low-price field

In fact, the new Chevrolet Six is such a thoroughly fine-looking automobile that it has become a very popular choice with every type of buyer. You find it not only the smart family car, but the smart personal car as well—a worthy companion to the expensive automobiles of the two- and three-car household.

JEALOUSY CAUSE MURDER - SUICIDE AT OKLAHOMA CITY

WIDOW DENIES GROUNDS FOR HUSBAND'S ACTION WEDNESDAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Dollie Urton today blamed unfounded jealousy of her husband, Reuben Urton, for Urton's killing of her friend, Wilfred Poland, and subsequent suicide.

The double killing occurred late last night at the home of the Urtons where, Mrs. Urton said, Urton had returned with Poland after a quarrel concerning attentions Poland had been paying her.

Mrs. Urton said she had known Poland, a cafe owner, for some time. She denied, however, there was any foundation for her husband's jealousy.

Urton left the house after a quarrel, Mrs. Urton told officers, and returned with Poland. Another argument ensued, then Urton declared he would leave home and seized a bag which he had already packed.

As Urton and Poland left the house together, Mrs. Urton said she followed to the door where she saw Urton fire twice at Poland and then turn the gun on himself.

POLICE SEEKING TO FASTEN MURDER ON GIRL'S LOVER

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 7.—(AP)—Officers investigating the slaying of Hazel Bradshaw, 20, were spurred to new effort by an announcement that M. E. Garrison, 37, her suitor, might seek freedom under a writ of habeas corpus today.

Detective Captain Paul J. Hayes said if he could find a witness who could identify Garrison as the man seen emerging from a road leading to the scene of the slaying, the police case would be complete.

A. Fairchild, Garrison's attorney, said that unless formal charges were filed he would act to free his client. Garrison surrendered for questioning soon after Miss Bradshaw's body was found in a park here Sunday.

Captain Hayes said a man and his fiancee, whose names he withheld, were parked Saturday at midnight within 100 yards of the scene and saw some man emerge from the darkness of the road. Captain Hayes linked their statement with that of Harry F. Stevenson, park employe, who said he saw Garrison and a girl pass through the center of the park at 11:25 p. m.

Acting upon the suggestion of Garrison's landlord, Captain Hayes said he was trying to find whether the suspect maintained another apartment. He said he regarded as of little importance the finding of small blood stains on the sheets of Garrison's bed.

An inquest over the girl's body will be held Monday.

J. Barfield, county superintendent. The schools standardized are: Watt, Shiloh, Pleasant Grove, Ben Hur, Box Church, Eureka, Beulah, Farrar, Big Hill, Oakes, Kirk, Munger Ft. Parker and Prairie Hill.

Prominent Speakers Before Fourth Annual Short Course

DENTON, May 7.—(Spl.)—"Citizenship" is the subject of the address to be made by Dr. T. O. Walton, president of A. & M College, at the fourth annual short course for women, cooperative project of A. & M. and C. I. A. (Texas State College for Women) to be held at C. I. A., Denton, May 7.

It is expected that approximately 750 women from northeast Texas will attend. Faculty members of both colleges will be the principal speakers. A recreational hour will be held at noon including a picnic at the college picnic grounds.

The purpose of the short course which is under the direction of Fred W. Westcourt, director of the Department of Rural Arts, C. I. A., is to acquaint rural people with modern methods in farm and home care.

Prof. Daniel Scoates, head of the Agriculture and Engineering Department, A. & M. will talk on the "Game of Planning a home." R. E. Jackson, professor in the Department of History, C. I. A., will give one of his humorous talks titled "Being Yourself." "New Methods in the Home" will be the subject of the talk to be given by Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent.

Miss Iva Chapman and Miss Julia Lipscomb, instructors in the primary-kindergarten department, C. I. A., will give an illustrated lecture on "Place of Literature and Music in Child-Training."

Qualifications For Limestone County's School Supervisor

GROESBECK, May 7.—(Spl.)—Qualifications for the new county rural school supervisor, authorized in a new law passed by the legislature, have been specified by the Limestone county board of education. The supervisor is to get $1800 a year for nine months of work. Qualifications are at least two years of college work, five years of experience as a teacher and a permanent certificate, and a special six weeks course in supervision.

The supervisor will replace the county teachers' institute formerly required.

J. M. Patterson was reelected chairman of the county school board for another year.

Chicago Exchange Expels Two Members After Long Hearing

CHICAGO, May 7.—(AP)—Two members of the Chicago Stock Exchange were expelled by the governing committee today for unethical conduct after a hearing that lasted until 2 a. m.

Charles L. Trumbull, a partner in the firm of Trumbull, Wardell & Co., was accused of violating two sections of the exchange rules, conducting business in a "reckless and unbusiness-like manner," and making fictitious transactions. He was alleged to have traded securities without involving any change in ownership, buying and selling to himself. Harvey Cory, understood to have a working agreement with although not a member of the Trumbull firm, was expelled on the second count.

Law Comes First Even If Copper's Own Auto Offends

CHICAGO, May 7.—(AP)—With Policeman Adolph Olson the law comes first.

Every now and then he finds time to halt traffic near the American league baseball park to criticize a motorist for having old licence plates, no city tag or something else. Yesterday was no exception. He halted a motorist for not having 1931 licenses.

"There is no excuse for this," he said, "the law comes first."

Seeking an alibi, the motorist looked around, caught sight of a sedan parked in an inconspicuous place, and said:

"I'm not the only offender. Put a 1931 tag on that car. It has no plates at all."

Adolph turned red. He shuffled his feet. Then he murmured something about going to the drug store to get something to quiet his nerves.

The sedan was Adolph's, and tonight's the night he is to get a ticket from his sergeant.

LAND TAX MEASURE GIVEN APPROVAL BY HOUSE OF COMMONS

LONDON, May 7.—(AP)—The house of commons was on record today as approving Chancellor Philip Snowden's land tax resolution but will determine by a series of parliamentary steps whether it becomes law.

The resolution providing for a levy of a penny a pound on land values, starting in 1922, was adopted by a vote of 289 to 230 last night. Former Prime Minister David Lloyd George swung the liberal strength behind the plan.

The measure is now in the "report stage" during which amendments will be considered and proposals discussed for framing the completed bill. After this, the completed bill will be brought up for first reading.

Neither in conservative ranks or in the party press has any strong opposition to the measure been expressed yet but this is likely to ensue when the text is available. Indications are that one of the main lines of attack will be on the ground on public economy, critics having declared that the plan is extravagant.

Worry Over Accident Causes Man Suicide

CHICAGO, May 7.—(AP)—Some will call it the irony of fate.

Oscar A. Riton was to have been married yesterday. He also was to have appeared in court on a hit-and-run charge. He did neither.

Instead he went to Milwaukee, Wis., and killed himself by shooting, apparently worried about the traffic accident.

Alex Wynowski, who had been struck by Riton's automobile, walked into court—uninjured.

WOMAN CONVICTED MURDER EMPLOYER DIES IN PRISON

TRIAL OF ALLEGED ACCOMPLICE HALTED; FAIL SECURE STATEMENT

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Esther Carlson, 52, who faced trial on a charge of having fatally poisoned her employer, August Lindstrom, 81, a retired lumberman, is dead. She succumbed to tuberculosis in prison hospital late yesterday.

The trial of Mrs. Anna Erickson, a neighbor charged with complicity in the death of Lindstrom, was halted when word reached the courtroom Mrs. Carlson was in a coma. Officials failed in hurried efforts to obtain a statement.

Lindstrom died Feb. 9 after having been attended by the women in an illness of several days. He was buried at Williams, Ariz., his former home, but the body was exhumed at the request of a son, Peter Lindstrom, Chicago meat packer.

The coroner said an autopsy disclosed a large quantity of poison in the body. Separate trials had been ordered for the women because of Mrs. Carlson's illness.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MAN CHARGED WITH KILLING OFFICER

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP)—Police were engaged in a two-fold quest today, seeking Francis Crowley, 20-year-old gunman, wanted for two killings, and a 16-year-old girl, who they fear may have been a third victim.

Crowley was identified by associates as the man who shot and killed Patrolman Frederick Hirsch yesterday morning when the officer sought to question him as Crowley sat with a girl in an automobile near North Merrick, Long Island.

The car was found yesterday but the girl, Helen Walsh, has not been seen. Two bullet holes in the front door led police to believe Crowley had slain the girl to dispose of a witness against him and had hidden the body somewhere on Long Island.

Crowley is wanted also for the slaying of Virginia Brannen, 23, whose body was found two weeks ago in Yonkers, N. Y. She was a dance hall hostess and came to New York from Bangor, Me.

EAST TEXAS ASKS STATE BUILD ROADS FOR OIL TRAFFIC

LONGVIEW, May 7.—(AP)—A committee representing Longview, Kilgore and Gladewater has started a campaign to impress on the state highway commission the necessity for improving the highways in the East Texas oil area.

The members are E. G. Whitney of Longview, J. E. Bagwell of Kilgore and Carl Everett of Gladewater. They were appointed at a mass meeting here.

It was said that a concrete road between Longview and Kilgore was the most pressing need at this time and its cost was estimated at $350,000 with an additional $200,000 for bridges. It was proposed that Gregg county furnish one-third of the cost and the state the remainder.

FORMER PREMIER DENIES RUMORS OF ALFONSO REQUEST

DECLARES EX-KING ASKED ONLY THAT MONARCHISTS ASSIST GOVERNMENT

MADRID, May 7.—(AP)—The Marques Luca Detenta today denied published reports that former King Alfonso of Spain had asked him to persuade Jose Sanchez Guerra, former premier, to head a monarchist ticket in the coming parliamentary elections.

"The king has not given me any order," he said in a statement. "The king desires only that the monarchists shall not put difficulties before the republican government and that they collaborate with the government on such patriotic matters as require it."

The Duke of Maura, former minister of labor and a brother of Minister of Interior Miguel, considers it possible that the monarchy will be restored by the vote of the people.

The republican government has scheduled the election for a constituent Cortes in June.

OSCAR FUHR LOOKS INTO HALL OF FAME WITH ONE-HIT PERFORMANCE

PANTHERS REGAIN WINNING WAYS IN GALVESTON FIGHT

INDIANS TURNED TABLES ON SPUDDERS; BUFFS WON WILD AFFAIR

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Oscar Fuhr, a portsider who has pitched baseball many years in many leagues, missed the national pastime's hall of fame Wednesday by one hit. Feeding the Beaumont Exporters effective curves plus almost perfect control, Fuhr put the Dallas Steers pennant percentage a few points higher with a 3 to 0 win. It was a keen exhibition of pitching from the southpaw arm of a man who has been up and down baseball's lane.

One single, that by second baseman Holly in the third inning, spoiled Fuhr's otherwise near perfect day and clever pitching. So superb was Fuhr that Beaumont failed to send a runner safely to second.

The pace setting Fort Worth Cats spiked the rubber eight times in the fifth inning to defeat Galveston, 10 to 3. Up to this frame, Carroll had pitched commendable ball for the Buccaneers, but he aviated in the fifth and was relieved by Preacher Thurman. It was a day of hard-hitting for both clubs. Five doubles and four triples crashed against the fence, Galveston getting five of the extra base hits.

Sanguinet Aids Indians.

Tired of taking lickings, Claude Robertson's San Antonio Indians defeated Wichita Falls 6 to 4. [illegible] Sanguinet's mighty bat thundered when the Indians' rightfielder smashed three hits out of four times at bat. It was a day of free hitting for both clubs.

The Shreveport Sports barely missed their seventh win of the season but they failed to click when the Houston Buffaloes put on a three-run show in the ninth inning to overtake the Sports 6 to 4 lead and eventually win, 7 to 6. It was indeed a strange game of baseball, for the Buffaloes secured their three winning runs without the aid of a base hit. It was won on a walk and three wild errors.

ONE of the most fascinating phases of intercollegiate rowing embraces traditions cloaking its venerable coaches in the mantles of wisdom and affection. Cornell had its immortal-spirited "Pop" Courtney, Yale its "King" Kennedy and today their counterparts are advancing the art of oarsmanship in a score of the nation's leading universities.

Take "Jim" Ten Eyck, for instance. He's almost as much a part of Syracuse University as its buildings. Some say the aged but alert "Jim" has at least one sacred secret that reaches back to the roots of our Republic and its Revolutionary War history. Ten Eyck, of course, will deny publicly that he stroked the boat which ferried Washington across the Delaware. He infers that "Brother Jim" Wray, of Cornell, deserves that distinction. Perhaps it was two other fellows. Wrinkles, especially on strong healthy skin, are uncertain records in that respect. Legend probably has confused the Revolutionary with the Civil War as far as both Ten Eyck and Wray are concerned! Each is a striking example that rowing is conducive to a long and healthy life. Both "Jims" are more active than men half their years. And for generations they've been producing first-class crews, the current season included.

Over on the Charles River, Bill Haines, another old master of race-boat propelling, is guiding the Massachusetts Institute of Technology crews. Haines has been with M. I. T. for eight years. Prior to that he was with Harvard. Last year, M. I. T. came in third at Poughkeepsie. "Tech" has splendid material and a master coach, but scholastic hours are such that the crew candidates often have to practice at night and under difficult circumstances.

Incidentally, Ten Eyck's Syracusans row the Navy this Saturday on the Severn River at Annapolis. "Ol' Dick" Glendon's Middies bowed to his son's Columbia eight in mid-April, but their chances against Syracuse appear good at this writing.

Texas Aggie Track Team To Defend Two Year Title This Week

COLLEGE STATION, May 7.—(Spl.)—Going forth to defend their two-year-old hold on the Southwest Conference track and field championship, Texas Aggie thinly clads will leave here Thursday and Friday to participate in the conference meet to be held at the T. C. U. stadium in Fort Worth on Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9.

Sprinters, hurdlers and quarter milers will leave Thursday to compete in the preliminaries in these events which are scheduled for Friday. They will be followed Friday by the remainder of the runners and all of the field men.

Aggie prospects of retaining the championship will be dimmed a bit by the sickness of Capt. Rufus Emmons who was sent to the college hospital immediately after the triangular track meet with Rice Institute and Texas University last Saturday. Although Emmons will be released from the hospital in time to compete in the meet, it is highly improbable that he will be in anything like his best condition to run.

AL MERCER.

Al Mercer, 178 pounds, St. Louis neck-twister, and an exponent of the Japanese leg lock, will oppose Walter Logan, Omaha, 180, in the main feature of Thursday night's (tonight) wrestling card at the Nat under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion.

Logan Clashes With Mercer in Main Card; Several Local Bouts

Walter Logan, Omaha, 180, clashes with Al Mercer, St. Louis, 178, a Japanese leg lock exponent, Thursday night (tonight) at the Nat in the headliner attraction of the weekly matches conducted by Jack Morgan, proprietor, under the auspices of the Johnson-Wiggins Post No. 22, American Legion. The card will start at 8:15 o'clock. Logan was the referee in the matches here last Thursday evening, and trained with Vernon Breedlove, well-known welterweight wrestler here a number of years ago.

In the semi-final affair, Benny Mathis, Dallas, 160, will match skill with Doc Poole, 160, Dawson and Corsicana boy, for a one fall decision with a time limit of 45 minutes. The main attraction is for the bast two out of three falls with no time limit.

Efforts are being made by Morgan to procure a negro battle royal attraction.

In the first preliminary, Cotton McGee, 168, and Cotton Harris, 170, ill perform in a 10-minutes match. Earl Carson and Billie Surry, two other local boys, both weighing about 145, will be given a 15-minutes or one fall.

Promoter Logan stated Thursday that ladies were especially invited to attend these weekly matches. Jim Williams is assistant promoter in these matches and time-keeper.

SPORT NOTES

By PAUL MOORE :::: Daily Sun Sports Editor

Promoter Jack Morgan of the weekly wrestling shows presented Thursday nights at the Nat is of the opinion that the neck-twisting tonight will be of the best, and that the fans will be well pleased with the main and preliminary matches on tap.

Golfing fans of this vicinity will watch the championship struggle between Frank Caldwell, a youngster, and Charley Holloway, a veteran, over the Country club course Friday, a 36-hole affair, with considerable interest. Both came through a gruelling campaign, and both have had close shaves in eliminating the other 14 players in the championship flight.

Both are real golfers, and will be out for the coveted championship. The two finalists have been in the first flight for years, but have never annexed a major golf title. A considerable gallery is expected to trek over the course watching the match, especially if they are close at the end of the morning round. It is likely that the match will be played 18 holes in the morning, and the second round in the afternoon.

A number of interesting games among amateur baseball nines are carded for the week end. Magnolia Oilers will meet the Waxahachie W. O. W. club here Sunday afternoon. These two teams battled to a 7-7 deadlock, 11 innings, here last Sunday.

Five high school athdetes, winners in the recent county and district track and field mets, accompanied by Track Coach Ted L. Jeffries, left Thursday for Austin to seek honors in the State University of Texas Interscholastic league met Friday and Saturday in Austin.

This is the first year that Corsicana high school ever won a district track title, and the winning of the club this year was a surprise to the fans in this vicinity due to the fact that the Tiger athletes came out second to the State Home in the Navarro county meet held at the State Home.

Home run hitters Wednesday included Cronin, Washington; Foxx, Philadelphia Athletics; Pickering, Boston Red Sox; Trlett, Philadelphia Phillies; Ruth, New York Yankees; Bluege, Washington; Cochrane, Philadelphia Athletics; Lary, New York Yankees; Spars, Henderson.

The East Texas league which started about about a week ago, is to disband. Officials state that the failure of Tyler to support its team and post the required forfeit money was the chief reason for disbanding the loop. Attendance was increasing in the other towns of the loop.

The Fort Worth Cats are rocking along at a dizzy pace at the head of the Texas league clubs, winning consistently, and reminding the Cat fans of the palmy days when Atz was winning his seven pennants in a row there.

YANKS FINALLY WIN ONE SERIES FROM WASHINGTON

BILL WALKER AND WILLIE SHERDEL HAD HARD LUCK IN WEDNESDAY GAMES

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

If the St. Louis Cardinals could arrange to play nothing but extra innings games the rest of the season, they likely would romp home in front of the National league field by a longer margin than they did in 1930.

Thus far Gabby Street's Red Birds have engaged in three extended sessions and they have yet to lose a decision. Twice they beat out the Chicago Cubs in overtime duels and yesterday they victimized the Pirates in 13 innings, 6 to 5.

In contrast, the New York Yankees have indulged in four extra period affairs and have yet to win one of them. Had they done as well as the Cards, they would be leading the American league chase.

Gelbert Is Star.

Charley Gelbert, shining light of the last world series, was the hero of yesterday's victory over Pittsburgh. The Card shortstop tripled in the thirteenth and scored on Martin's single. He then came through with a brilliant assist to retire the Pirates in their half after they had filled the bases on relief pitcher Jim Lindsey.

Two National league hurlers had the unhappy experience of pitching four-hit games, yet being charged with defeats. Bill Walker, Giant southpaw, held the Brooklyn Robins to a quartet of blows, only to come up on the losing end, 1 to 0, when the Dodgers grouped one of them with a walk and an outfield fly in the seventh inning.

Willie Sherdel of the Boston Braves was the other unfortunate flinger. The Phillies got him for only four hits, but one of them was Buzz Arlett's fifth homer of the season. It came in the seventh with one on, so the Phils won, 3 to 1.

Yankees Win Series.

The Yankees finally won a series from Washington by taking their final, 10 to 7. Babe Ruth and Lyn Lary each contributed a home.

Led by Al Simmons, who cracked two doubles and three singles in five trips, the Athletics enjoyed a field day at the expense of the Boston Red Sox. Homers of Foxx and Cochrane helped make the score 10 to 3.

Roy Johnson, Detroit rightfielder, hit two doubles and a single, drove in four runs and scored one himself as the Tigers made it two out of three from Chicago, 9 to 4.

Rain caused postponement of the Chicago-Cincinnati engagement at Chicago and cold weather spiked the Indians and Browns at St. Louis.

SUNDAY BARGAINS OFFERED TO FANS BY ST. LOUIS CLUB

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—(AP)— The Browns have adopted the Sunday double-header plan, inaugurated last season by the Cardinals, in an effort to lure more customers through the turnstiles.

Phil Ball, owner of the Browns, announced today a double bill for next Sunday with the Athletics. Monday's game will be moved up as part of the twin attraction, leaving Monday an open date.

The Cardinals, who profited by the doubleheader plan last year, will use it again this season, but probably not as extensively as in 1930. Especially if they continue to attract sizeable crowds on week days. Business at the box-office has been unusually dull this season for the Browns.

Montfort Nine Won Over Tupelo 6 to 2

The Montfort independents defeated the Tupelo nine at Montfort Monday afternoon, 6-2, McClanahan, pitcher for the winners, allowing the losers only four hits during the game, and aiding his own cause by three hits in four trips to the plate. Montford hitters were credited with an even dozen safe wallops.

New Frost Stands On Debris Strewn Ground Of One Year Ago Today

For out of the ashes and debris of a completely wrecked community, has risen a new community, greater because of lessons of co-operation learned in the blackest hours of need, and greater because of the long, patient struggle and patient sacrifices that were required to bring the city to its present status.

Almost entirely devoid of resources and with a minimum of assistance, a new Frost has arisen in the brief space of a year upon the site of the former town. It is new through and through, more substantial and more beautiful.

Upon a small area of sacred ground, hallowed by the blood of twenty victims of a tornado, again by the terrible mental and physical anguish of survivors, and thricely by the sacrifice of its citizens as they refused to lose courage and depart to other sites, has risen a new city of Frost.

New Frost stands as a glowing memorial and testimony to the hardihood of a band of sturdy citizens in whose veins must flow the same blood as the heroes of the Alamo and Goliad, and of San Jacinto.

Just a year ago today, on May 6, 1930, the news was received in Corsicana that its sister city had been devastated by a cyclone, and guided by the providence that cares for the unselfish response of all real citizens in such an emergency, Corsicana reached out its hand to its badly battered neighbor.

Struck in Afternoon.

Although the storm struck Frost shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the news could not be relayed to Corsicana until some of the citizens could make their way across the debris-strewn terrain and over the flooded roads to Blooming Grove to spread the word of the catastrophe. But within seconds of the time that the news was received in Corsicana, ambulances, doctors, nurses, and supplies were on their way to the West Navarro county town.

Within a few minutes relief trains had been organized in Corsicana and were en route to Frost to give aid to the injured and to assist in any way possible. More than sixty injured in the storm were brought to Corsicana hospitals for treatment, and many more who were homeless were given temporary haven in the homes of this city.

Under the direction of Mayor R. L. Wheelock and members of the Corsicana city commission, assisted by several score of citizens, patrols and searching parties were organized and began systematic relief work before the sun had gone down.

Within a short time members of the military units from Corsicana had taken over the duty of guarding and protecting the scattered remains of what had been happy homes. They were joined later by members of two Hillsboro units and remained on duty for almost a week.

Toil Throughout Night.

Throughout the night, rescue and relief work was carried on in every possible manner. Debris was searched for the dead and injured and even the surrounding country-side was scouted for potential victims. Camp kitchens were erected, and preparations made for the feeding of a community that was entirely without resources.

Shortly after day-light Wednesday morning, a large party of Corsicana business men and bankers went to Frost and tendered their assistance in every way possible. Supplies of all kinds were provided and before noon, a section of the debris strewn ground had been cleared and scores of workmen were busy at the task of erecting temporary quarters for the dozens of merchants whose buildings were wrecked and who were making heroic efforts to salvage all that was possible of their worldly wealth.

Under the personal supervision of Albert Evans, assistant national director of disaster relief, the field forces of the American Red Cross came into the storm stricken areas and set up Central Texas Tornado Relief headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce building at Corsicana with branches at Ennis, Frost, Hillsboro and Waco, and a nation-wide appeal was made for funds.

The Frost storm was one of a series that swept Texas on May 6 and resulted in more than three-score deaths and the injury list ran far into the hundreds.

Came Without Warning.

The storm itself came without warning out of the southwest and swept in a northeasterly direction with terrific force and violence, leveling farm home and business house alike with reckless abandon, and performed freak stunts that are still recalled. In the vicinity of Frost the swath of the tornado was about a quarter of a mile broad and more than ten miles in length, according to aerial observers estimates immediately after the storm.

Corsicana led the state in its per capita contributions to assist the stricken community, and the machinery of the process of rehabilitation began to move.

After providing for temporary care for all the storm sufferers, the task of permanent rehabilitation was started and has continued until the present. Farm homes were rebuilt and business structures began to rear their walls toward the heavens again.

Building for the future the citizens of Frost took the advice of visiting city plan experts and adopted a scientific outline for the rebuilding of their community. Garitty avenue, the main thoroughfare north and south in the town was considerably widened, and a new property line adopted.

Today few traces of the catastrophe remain. And the feat of the Frost citizens is doubly miraculous when one discovers that it is not the first time that they have dug out from the ruins of a tornado. It was the worst but by no means the first.

Modern Town Arises

Visitors to the town of Frost today are impressed with the modern buildings that line Garitty and Front streets and also line the main highway to Hillsboro that furnishes the third main street of the town. A great majority of the business houses have been rebuilt and with the exception of the First National Bank building which will also house the Masonic hall, almost all of the construction has been completed, and this structure lacks only a few days' additional work.

In keeping with the new and modern fireproof business section, the residential section has also been rebuilt and remodeled until few traces of the disaster remain. Few homes remain in the desolate state in which the thousands of visitors found them shortly after the storm.

To be sure, there are not as many gins in the town as there were before, but the gins that are in operation are large enough to amply care for all needs at present and able to care for future expansion. Two magnificent new churches of the Baptist and Methodist denominations show the public immediately that it is a God fearing and loving community. There was a third church but its membership has either merged with one of the other groups or holds its services in a private home.

But there is nothing lacking today to make Frost a modern town. Its utilities systems have been rebuilt and enlarged and modernized in such a manner as to be a credit to town much larger.

The large section of the temporary store structures has disappeared from its place beside the railroad tracks, and has reappeared in the form of an attractive fair exhibition hall and auditorium. Another small section of the temporary structures has but one tiny unit still occupied.

School Repaired.

The high school, considerably damaged by the blast, has been repaired and remodeled to better accomodate the students. In fact in every way possible, the citizens of Frost have forgotten the tragedies of the past and are busy building for a bigger and greater town at present and in days to come.

There are few physical evidences of the disaster on the first anniversary of the tornado, and the people are happy in their work, thankful for the friendliness of their neighbors, and anxious and willing to do their part in every possible way to the progress of the county and state and nation.

Perhaps the only evidence of the great tragedy remaining is the tendency of the majority of the populace to seek refuge in storm cellars when threatening skies lower over the town—and even then it is a measure of preparedness learned from dread experience and not one of fear.

Frost deserves the admiration and respect of the county, state, nation and world for the manner in which it has "carried on" in the face of almost overwhelming difficulties. But the citizens of that city are going about happily with smiles on their faces, facing the future with confidence and hope.

Frost, the world salutes and honors you.

You deserve the tribute of "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

SALESMAN DENIES BURNING FAMILY CORONER'S JURY

GREELEY, Colo., May 6.—(AP)— James V. Foster, 49, denied accusations of an 11-year-old daughter as a coroner's jury met today to investigate a fire which fatally burned his wife and three children in bed yesterday.

Mildred Foster, who escaped from the house but died later of burns was quoted by Seacil Roberts, chief of police, as saying:

"Daddy did it. He woke us up, threw gasoline in our faces and lit a match to the room."

The district attorney said he would file a first degree murder charge against Foster, a salesman, who also was accused of firing the home in a deathbed statement to police by his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Foster, 40.

The other victims were Geraldine Foster, 3, and Darline, 19 months old.

Foster was arrested near Aault, Colo. He asserted his wife had been acting strangely and "threatened to end it all."

Surprise Birthday Dinner For Long Time Resident

On Sunday, April 19, Mrs. E. Tramel was delightfully surprised by her children, friends and relatives who came to her home to be with her on her sixty-seventh birthday.

Mrs. Tramel came from Tennessee and has been a resident of the Bazette community for more than forty years. She has ten children, thirty-three grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren, all of the Bazette community except two granddaughters and one great-randson.

The children are three girls and seven boys. The girls are Mrs. Tennessee Pike, Mrs. W. W. Taylor and Mrs. Loren Albritton; the boys are: W. J. Tramel, R. T. Tramel, T. A. Tramel, Prosper Tramel, Lester Tramel and S. V. Tramel, the latter being the only one absent on that day.

At an early hour the children began to gather in. Mrs. Tramel began planning to fix dinner when one of her daughters memarked that there would be plenty to eat without her fixing anything else. Then she happened to remember it was her birthday, and they were playing a trick on her, as each brought boxes and baskets filled with delicious foods.

Then dinner was called to a multitude of seventy-seven. On entering the dining room what should you see more beautiful than the table set and covered with salads, meats, cakes and pies of the very best. Then of course, the birthday cake, snow white with sixty-seven beautiful pink and yellow candles. When they were lit the crowd gathered around to see Mrs. Tramel blow them out, but she failed to extinguish a one.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tramel and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tramel and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Tramel and son, Mr. and Mrs. Prosper Tramel and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tramel and family, Lester Tramel, Mrs. W. W. Taylor and family, Mrs. Tennessee Pike and family, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Albritton and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nelson and son, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis and daughter, Frieny Davis, W. G. Tramel, Sr., Mrs. Arch Hardaway, Mrs. Graves, L. C. and Johnnie Graves, Jasper Kimbrough and two children, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Deskin and family, and James Barnes, all of the Kerens community, and Mrs. G. M. Barnett of Dallas.

We wish to recall a similar occasion for Mr. E. Tramel in November of last year, and say there was one with us that day who has since passed away, Mrs. Taylor of Tennessee, she was sadly missed by all those present.

At last when it came time to depart each wish Mrs. Tramel many more happy birthdays, for this one had ineed seemed a happy one for her and it was certainly a pleasure to all to make one so loved by all the people, happy on this occasion, her birthday.—A Guest.

ANTI-NOISE BILL SIGNED WEDNESDAY OTHER APPROVALS

AUSTIN, May 6.—(AP)—Governor Sterling today signed Representative Anderson's anti-noise bill, designed to prevent trains from blowing loud whistles within cities.

Cities of 5,000 population or more may require signals other than steam whistles and may regulate the ringing of bells and the blowing of whistles.

The governor approved two proposed constitutional amendments, to permit the voters of Gulf Coast counties to authorize tax levies for seawalls, breakwaters and sanitary purposes and to allow retired army, navy and marine officers and enlisted men to vote and hold office.

The judiciary deficiency bill appropriating $355,161.26 was approved.

Other new laws were: To permit certain consolidated school districts formed since September 1921, to receive bonuses for consolidation.

To tax mineral rights on the same basis as property.

To provide additional refunds of gasoline taxes on gasoline used in tractors and other farm machinery.

The governor signed the resolution appropriating up to $500 for a portrait of Dan Moody, former governor, to be hung in the capitol.

FOUR MEN SLAIN IN CLASH BETWEEN OFFICERS, MINERS

HARLAN, Ky., May 5.—(AP)—Four men were killed and one probably fatally wounded in a clash between deputy sheriffs and a group of unidentified men today near Evarts, according to a revised list of casualties reported to Sheriff J. H. Blair here.

The dead were reported as Deputy Jim Daniels, Deputy Purcisul, Howard Jones, a storekeeper who was with the deputies, and an unidentified member of the party the deputies claim fired on their from ambush.

Otto Lee, a deputy, was reported so severely wounded that he could not recover. Several others were reported wounded.

The outberak, attributed to labor troubles and unemployment, resulted in Sheriff Blair sending fifty deputies with four machine guns, rifles and tear gas to track down the men, with orders to shoot to kill if necessary.

Evarts is in the heart of the Harlan coal fields which have been the scene of frequent disorders in the last few years. Today's fight, information received here revealed, was another chapter in the labor disorders, resulting from strikes throughout this region.

Several weeks ago Deputy Sheriff Jess Pace was slain when he attempted to make arrests at Evarts as a result of the mine disorders. A short time afterward, mine guards and a band of men hidden in the mill engaged in a pitched battle during which several thousand shots were fired but no one was injured. Several days ago sixteen vacant houses in a mining camp near here were destroyed by fire believed to have been incendiary.

HIGHWAY BONDS FIGHT RENEWED AT AUSTIN WEDNESDAY

HOUSE CONSIDERS CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT; SENATE REFUND

AUSTIN, May 6—(AP)—The fight over the state highway bond issue was set to be renewed in both houses today.

The main fight centered in the house where the Woodul-Williamson-Hubbard resolution to submit a constitutional amendment to give the legislature authority to issue $212,000,000 in bonds was scheduled again, many hope, for the last time. In the senate efforts continued to have the Brooks bill to reimburse counties from current revenues for state highway expenditures, printed on minority report.

Representative Hubbard of New Boston, co-author and house floor leader for the bond issue, said 145 of the 150 members would be present. He said he had been pledged enough votes to insure submission of the amendment. Opponents, however, were just as confident the bond issue would not be submitted.

The senate argued long yesterday over printing the Brooks bill on minority report. Proponents charged bond issue advocates with attempting to delay action on the bill to force the house to adopt the bond resolution.

Senator Woodul of Houston declared Governor Sterling had too much experience as a road builder to permit the Brooks bill to "see the light of day."

Senator Small of Wellington countered with the statement the governor would not dare veto a bill that would provide relief for the counties and leave sufficient funds for operation of the highway department.

Educational Bill Cut

The house reduced the educational appropriation bill by $950,000, eliminating all but two appropriations or buildings. The economy bloc was unseated twice and appropriations of $25,000 to construct a library at the West Texas State Teachers' college at Canyon and $40,000 for a hospital at the College of Industrial Arts at Denton were voted.

Building appropriations eliminated were: Colege of Mines, El Paso, $200,000; College of Arts and Industries, Kingsville, $100,000; North Texas State Teachers' college, Denton, $250,000; Southwest Texas State Teachers' college, San Marcos, $200,000; Stephen F. Austin State Teachers' college, Nacogdoches, $200,000.

"Backfire" Is Claimed

The action of the economy bloc was hailed as a "backfire" on members who stressed the prospective deficiency in urging support for certain tax measures. The anticipated deficiency, reported by Gov. Sterling at approximately $7,750,000, was held up as the main reason why additional revenue should be raised. The economy bloc held to the contention that if the state was faced with such a startling deficiency, the legislature should curtail expenditures and not appropriate money for new buildings.

An amendment to reinstate the Denton college appropriation was pending at adjournment. The appropriation bill will come up again Friday.

The senate state affairs committee last night gave an adverse report to a bill to authorize the attorney general to attend sessions of board of equalization in counties where state taxes had been remitted, to enable counties to meet emergencies and to pay off bonds. The bill was aimed directly at the sulphur companies operating in Wharton and Matagorda counties.

Men Who Can Be Trusted Are The Bed-Rock of Civilization

America's Major Problem of Unfaithful Officials Is Linked to Story Told by Jesus About Some Stewards of Old --- The Racketeer's Best Friend

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

Ugly questions are lifting their heads nowadays before the eyes of serious-minded folk. One is whether we may really trust the men who are supposed to be trusted. With so many high public officials being mown down by the hot breath of scandal; and with business leaders not a few revealed as recreant to their trusts, we may well wonder what is becoming of the sense of responsibility. For the whole foundation of our civilization is confidence in our fellow man; as Grover Cleveland said, "Public office is a public trust."

It is well that this Sunday school lesson, assigned several years ago by the International Committee, should just now center the thoughts of millions upon the topic of trusteeship. This is religion at work in everyday life; it is Christ's own presentation of the idea of faithfulness in stewardship.

The Racketeer's Best Friend.

It sometimes seems as if the public's horror-nerve has become numbed; people have grown calloused to revelations of crime and of crime's alliance with the agencies of law-enforcement. Deep and blazing indignation at betrayal of public trust is conspicuously lacking. In many American cities it is well recognized that politicians, police and criminals are banded together in a mighty triumverate; yet we see no great outbursts of outraged civic decency in protest against it. Business men do business with criminals, without impairing their social or business prestige. Decency's doors are seldom shut in social taboo, upon the politician or official who is the silent partner of the racketeer. Bootleggers and society leaders seem organized into an indissoluble partnership, the latter financing the former's varied crimes. Has Christendom lost the wholesom art of righteous indignation?

Best friend of the ever-growing gangs of criminals in American life is the public official who can be "fixed." Chicago and New York have of late been giving spectacular exhibitions of this; with judges and magistrates and political leaders involved in the vicious circle. Within a few hours of Al Capone's arrest in Philadelphia, the district attorney's office was in receipt of telegrams from influential men in official life throughout the nation, one of them the mayor of a great city, urging that he be freed—happily, all in vain. Gangsters openly boast that they can bribe officials of all branches of the government's law enforcement agencies, from Federal officers down to village constables. Their sweeping claim is not wholly true; but there is too much truth in it. More widely than we dare admit, faithfulness to one's trust, at all costs, is not expected of office-holders. Some have changed Cleveland's famous saying into "Public office is a private graft."

And in the face of the fact that lawlessness on the part of low-enforcement agents is like fire-extinguishers filled with gasoline.

Clock-Watchers and Wage Slaves.

Our Lesson-Parable runs also into the field of everyday employment. Jesus told the tale of ten servants, each of whom was entrusted with a pound of his master, who was going on a journey. One servant, the most efficient, had earned nine pounds with his capital; a second, more mediocre had increased his one pound into five; a third had done nothing. The other seven of the servants are not reported upon.

Evidently this is not a story of spirituality, as that word is commonly understood. Rather, it deals with the homely, humdrum virtue of fidelity in common service—without which, by the way, spirituality is a sham. There is more religion in faithfulness than in fervor. We may distrust the piety of the servant who does not sweep under the beds and who neglects to dust the dark corners; just as we may question the religion of the employer who does not pay fair wages and maintain proper working conditions.

We hear older folks complaining that it is harder than it used to be to get work well done and on time. Pride in one's own job and craftsmanship, they say, has grown less, as interest in one's own amusements and leisure-hour inaerests have grown greater. Men work for wages rather than for the work's sake. Clock-watchers—which is the modern phrase for time-servers—are more common than men with a passion for efficiency. And efficient faithfulness is the whole point of this Parable of the Pounds. Incompetency, timidity, blame-shifting and self-engrossment get no "well done from Jesus. He requires that stewards shall be found faithful; and who of us is not a steward?

Democracy and a Parable.

This parable points to a problem of democracy. Its basic assumption is that there is in every man and woman a sense of personal responsiblity which makes him trustworthy. Alone or in a crowd, watched or unwatched, the true man is expected to be faithful to his obligations. He works for no other taskmaster than the Boss Within, which is his sense of honor and individual integrity. If we cannot have these qualities, we cannot have democracy.

This implies a step up in human organization. Over most of the earth the slave-driver's lash has disappeared. Compulsory labor has pretty well gone out of fashion. Men labor today for reasons resident within their own personality; the need for food and clothes and shelter; the inner obligation to support their loved ones; the sense of self-respect which makes every decent person want to bear his share of the world's common load; ideals of efficiency and growth and advancement. In other words, like the servants in the parable, men are expected to work at their best without the employer's eye upon them. Such men are true freemen, true servants of their time.

Hitching Up The Big Egine.

Very true to life was the Master's picture of the three types of men—the efficient man, the mediocre man and the complete failure. And their rewards were in correspondence with their deserts. By faithfulness in lesser responsibilities, they earned opportunity for still greater labors.

These ideals of fidelity in secular tasks, set forth by Jesus, explain why Bible-saturated Christians make good citizens and good workers. The Scripture is, as has often been said, the most practically useful "success" book in all literature. It not only prescribes the virtues which make for character and wisdom and effectiveness, but it also hitches up the machnery of each person's individual life to the big engine of the Divine Will. This book not only prescribes, but it also empowers. It puts the highest motives behind the lowliest task.

"And a servant with his clause
Makes drudgery divine;
Who sweeps a room as by Thy laws
Makes that and the action fine."

According to United States law she is a Canadian, but Canada holds that by her marriage she becomes an American.

WOMEN ARE OPPOSED RADIO ADVERTISING PROGRAMS ON AIR

HOT SPRINGS, May 7.—(AP)—A resolution favoring public ownership and operation of radio broadcasting channels and facilities and elimination of advertising programs was ready for introduction at the final session today of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Thirty resolutions have been offered as a guide in achieving the aims of the "children's charter" formulated at the White House conference on child health and protection.

One resolution proposed cleaner and better movies, condemning "indecent appeals in movie advertising," and declared disapproval of the system of "blind booking and block handling of films."

"We believe radio broadcasting is an extension of the home," the radio resolution said, "that it is a form of education; that the broadcasting channels should forever remain in the hands of the public; that facilities should be fairly divided between national, state and county governments; that they should be owned and opreated at public expense."

The bootlegger has been popularized among many boys and girls of the country because of improver home enviroment, "yellow" journalism and certain types of movies, Dr. William John Coopen, United States Commission of education, told the congress yesterday.

Standard of Indiana Reports Its Earnings

WHITING, Ind., May 7.—(AP)—The annual report of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, including for the first time the operations and condition of subsidiary companies, today showed earnings for 1930 of $46,371,437.88 or $2.74 a share.

Because previous statements had not been prepared to include operations of affiliated companies—Pan-American Petroleum and Transport, Midwest Refining, Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing, Stanolind Pipe Line, Dixie Oil and McMan Oil and Gas—no comparison was made with the earnings of the previous year.

The report of the directors showed net working capital of $216,495,360.07 total current assets of $265,834,246.12 and current liabilities of $49,338,886.05.

HOUSE ADOPTED RESOLUTION STAY AT WORK TO MAY 22

AUSTIN, May 6.—(AP)—The forty-second legislature will not go home before May 22 under a resolution adopted in the house today, 83 to 57. The resolution proposed adjournment May 12, the date set by the constitutional amendment extending the sesion to 120 days, but was amended on motion of Representative Johnson of Carrizo Springs.

The sine die adjournment resolution was introduced by Rep. Anderson of San Antonio who declared "the earlier we get home the better off the people will be." Representative Kayton of San Antonio severely criticised the house for its tactics, claiming it was "over-paid, over-fed, pampered and underworked."

Representatives Johnson, McGregor of Austin, Forbes of Weatherford and Metcalfe of San Angelo all contended the legislature had worked harder and more conscientiously than any other legislature and that it would be folly to let a large portion of the legislaton die on the calendar when most of it could be worked out in ten extra working days.

A resolution by Representative Graves of Georgetown to appoint a legislative committee to work with the state auditor and the board of control to survey all state departments and institutions with the view of consolidations and effecting economies, was referred to the committee on state affairs.

AUSTIN, May 6.—(AP)—The Texas legislature today received a memorial from the Texas Managing Editors association asking it to pass a bill by Miss Neal of Carthage which would set up machinery for speeding up elections returns in Texas.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS PROBERS FAILED GET INFORMATION

The senate does not meet until December.

When Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil operator, refused to testify to a senate committee, the senate cited him for contempt and he was subsequently sent to jail by the court.

Miss Burroughs, formerly treasurer for the Cannon anti-Smith organization in Virginia, was called before the committee today at the beginning of its investigation into Bishop James Cannon's campaign activities. She refused flatly to testify after reading a statement which challenged the authority of the committee to make the investigation.

Senator Nye said he would ask the committee to consider next week "information which may be found the basis for reporting to the senate a violation of the corrupt practices act."

He indicated that the committee would seek no further testimony in its search for the use of money by Bishop Cannon in the 1928 campaign.

E. M. Reidy, also attorney for the interstate commerce commission, said the commission's new rates would gain for the railroads between $13,000,000 and $15,000,000 in advanced rates on coarse grains and asked the courts not to impede the movement of the new crop which will reach the rails June 1.

"This is the first actual relief to be given the growers on freight rates," he said, "and to stay the commission's order will postpone benefits to agriculture."

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—The senate campaign funds committee was defied today by Miss Ada Burroughs of Richmond, Va., who was called as the first witness in the inquiry into the use of funds by Bishop James Cannon in the 1928 political campaign.

Miss Burroughs flatly declined to give any testimony to the committee.

She gave this notice to the committee after reading a lengthy statement protesting the authority of the committee.

Chairman Nye called Miss Burroughs at the first witness after Bishop Cannon had asked if his letter of protest would be made a part of the record. Nye said it would.

Miss Burroughs brought a prepared statement and insisted upon reading it first. The statement protested the authority of the committee and was similar to the bishop's protest. She, too, declared the federal corrupt practices act unconstitutional.

"You were treasurer of the anti-Smith committee in Virginia in 1928," said Chairman Nye. "You certainly will answer questions about your activities won't you?"

Declines to Testify

"I decline to testify," said Miss Burroughs nervously.

As Nye put further questions she said, "I have nothing to add to my statement. I decline to testify."

Harry F. Sinclair, a millionaire oil operator, served a jail sentence for refusing to testify to a senate committee.

Bishop Cannon rested his chin on one of his crutches as he listened to Miss Burroughs.

"I decline to testify," she repeated as Nye asked her if she had filed reports "call for under the law."

She did answer a question whether she had filed a certain report, saying she had, but when Nye asked her about other reports she stated "I can't answer that."

Faces Nye Squarely

Looking straight at Nye, Miss Burroughs then answered all further questions with a mildly spoken "I decline to answer."

Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, the fifth member of the committee, came in during examination of Miss Burroughs.

Chairman Nye persisted in his futile questioning.

"You feel you are acting on good authority in taking this position?" he asked in a warning tone.

Miss Burroughs said she was satisfied of her position.

Nye asked if she knew the handwriting of Bishop Cannon.

"I decline to answer," she replied.

Nye leaned over the table and asked Miss Burroughs to identify a signature of Bishop Cannon to a letter calling a conference.

"I have nothing to add to my statement."

Says Prepared Statement

Nye asked her if she prepared her statement to the committee.

"I decline to answer," she responded and then hastily added: "I prepared the statement myself."

Nye read a letter of the Bishop calling a political conference in 1928 for consideration of congressional as well as the presidential election which he said gave the committee authority to investigate his activities.

Senator Dale said he did not believe Miss Burroughs wanted her answer that she prepared her own statement to stand, reminding her it included numerous legal citations.

"I said in my statement that I received legal help," she replied.

"The committee has evidence that there is a violation of the corrupt practices act," said Nye. "Don't you want to testify on that evidence?"

"I decline to testify," she again replied.

Dill called attention that Miss Borroughs in her statement denied that she had violated the law.

Understands Law

"She testified to that but refuses to answer other questions that might be embarrassing," said Senator Dill.

"Are you refusing to testify for fear of incriminating yourself?" asekd Nye.

"I have nothing to add to my statement," she concluded.

Nye ended his questioning and announced that C. B. Stevens, of Charlottesville, who had been summoned, would not be called.

The committee then turned to a hearing of Professor Merriam of Chicago university on the subject of election reforms.

After Miss Burroughs left the stand she was recalled.

"You are aware of the possible consequences attendant upon your action?" asked Nye.

"Yes," she said simply.

"You are fully aware," asked Senator Dill, "that there is a law involved here and that you are subject to prosecution?"

"Yes," she said.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—The second senate committee to seek to find out the disposition of anti-Smith campaign funds by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., in the 1928 campaign today encountered another challenge of authority from the Bishop.

But the senate campaign funds committee which received the new protest was more confident of its authority than was the senate lobby committee which was balked a year ago by the Southern Methodist churchman.

Chairman Nye announced as the hearing of two witnesses was about to proceed that "we will go ahead." The bishop's letter, protesting the legality of the senate resolution ordering the inquiry and denying the constitutionality of the federal corrupt practices act, was yet to be acted upon by the whole committee.

Bishop Cannon is accused by Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, of failing to account for a major part of $65,300 given to him as chairman of the anti-Smith campaign in Virginia by E. C. Jameson, New York financier, in 1928. The federal corrupt practices act requires an accounting.

Last February when the committee first began inquiry into the Tinkham complaint, Bishop Connon attended the hearing and voiced no protest.. The committee traced an $8,000 check given to Cannon by Jameson to the bishop's personal account.

In challenging the legality of the resolution by Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, empowering the campaign funds committee to inquire into charges of violation of the corrupt practices act in the 1928 election, Bishop Cannon said it would give to a congressional committee authority to investigate a crime. He quoted the supreme court as stating that "all the judicial power is vested in the courts by the constitution" and "implied powers do not exist in either house."

Therefore, he contended, the resolution "assigned to the committee the fuctions of a grand jury, but in this case with open doors, listening to any and all allegations and reporting the same to the senate which, after the reception of such report from its committee, has no authority to determine whether either crime or fraud has been committed, or to inflict any penalty for the commission of the same."

"Finally, and preeminently," continued the bishop's protest, "I contend that such provisions of the federal corrupt practices act of 1925 as attempt to prescribe regulations concerning the election of presidential and vice presidential electors are unconstitutional and, therefore, null and void."

Laid Aside Cannon Protests.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—The senate campaign funds committee today laid aside the protest of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., against its authority to inquire into his use of funds in the 1928 campaign and decided to go ahead with the hearing.

With teh letter of the bishop before him, Chairman Nye of the committee stated "we have no doubt of our authority and we will procted forthwith.'

Nye said he was speaking for the whole committee. The bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, in his last minute effort to halt the committee's inquiry, contended the federal corrupt pracices act which he is charged with violating is unconstitutional. He also challenged the legality of the senate resolution ordering an inquiry into his use of anti-Smith funds in Virginia.

Three Believed Have Perished In Collision

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP)—Three men were believed to have perished early today when the Eastern steamship liner New York rammed and sank the tugboat Trimount in heavy fog off Race Rock, Fishers Island, in Long Island Sound. Six others were rescued by the crew of the New York.

The missing men were members of the Trimount crew.

The tugboat, a former rum runner, was towing the 48-foot motor dredge tender Alice to Providence for repairs when struck by the steamer. The steel bow of the 6,000-ton steamer cut the wooden vessel in half and it sank almost immediately.

After vainly searching for an hour, the steamer proceeded to New York with the rescued men.

The steamer, which plies between Boston and New York, had 300 passengers aboard. It was not damaged and the impact was hardly felt.

One of the passengers was Floyd Gibbons, noted war correspondent, and radio speaker.

JUDGE NASH HAS AIDED MANY SECURE STATE PENSIONS

NO GENERAL OLD-AGE PENSION LAW PASSED, COUNTY OFFICIAL STATES

During the past two and a half years, Clay Nash, county judge of Navarro county, has aided more than sixty widows and Confederate Veterans to procure Confederate pensions in the county, the judge stated Thursday, and he is anxious to aid any others entitled to pensions.

Judge Nash, however, stated that it had been reported in some quarters that the Texas legislature had passed an old-age pension bill and many were inquiring about that, but no such bill has been passed. One bill was introduced to that effect but it failed to be passed into a law. Judge Nash stated that no changes had been effected in the laws relative to Confederate pensions, although a bill was introduced to make changes, but failed to become a law.

It was pointed out that widows of Confederate Veterans are entitled to pensions even if they remarried after the death of their Confederate veteran husbands, and several of these are getting pensions.

Judge Nash recently received a copy of the pensioners whose applications were filed in Navarro county, but in many instances the pensioners are dead and have moved away. The list furnished Judge Nash included 131 widows of Confederate soldiers and 42 soldiers, but a number have died since the list was compiled. A number of widows and Confederate soldiers residing in Navarro county made their applications in other counties, but no record is available of those names.

The Confederate veterans whose applications were filed in Navarro county are as follows:

George W. Davis, Dawson; James H. Blake, Corsicana B. Edmondson, Rice; W. C. Terry, Corsicana; G. H. Kent, Corsicana; John Pickett, Corsicana; Levi G. Jayro, Purdon; Jim Peters, Blooming Grove; Nail McMullan, Rice; Franklin W. Norton, Corsicana; A. S. Mitchell, Corsicana; E. E. Laird, Wortham; A. P. Webster, Kerens; Bartlett B. Jackson, Powell; Eugene T. Browning, Milford; W. A. Newton, Kerens; C. C. Jackson, Powell; A. W. Roebuck, Italy; A. O. F. Finley, Kerens; W. H. Taylor, Corsicana; J. R. Noble, Corsicana; A. J. President Cotton Co-Op Association Confers Texans

DALLAS, May 7.—(AP)—E. F. Creekmore, president of the American Cotton Cooperative association, began today a conference with officials of the Texas organization.

In spite of rumored changes in the personnel and policies of the Texas association, the official announcement said only that "the conference is discussing operating plans of the organization for the year."

Creekmore, who has been under a fire of criticism from bankers, including Nathan Adams, president of the First National Bank of Dallas, and whose organization was attacked indirectly last week at the annual convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce in Atlantic City, refused to see newspaper men until after the conference.

Harry Williams, president of the Texas Cotton Co-Op.; C. O. Moser, vice-president of the American Cotton Co-Op and other officials were in private conference with Creekmore during the morning.

IN MEMORY.

On January 16, 1931, the death angel hovered in the home of our dear father and grand-father and took him away to bear him to the garden of love.

J. E. Brown was born August 5, 1861, in Mississippi. He came to Texas with his parents at the age of eight years. He has lived in Navarro county since he came from Mississippi. He joined the Baptist church at an early age and was an active member up to the time of his death. He was married to Miss Gertie Reeve, November 30, 1887 and to the union was born five children; his dear companion and two children's death preceding that of his several years.

"Jim" Brown, as he was called by his many friends, was ill only ten days at the time of his death. He was recovering from bronchial pneumonia, when from an heart attack, he was very suddenly taken from us. All was done for him that loving friends and faithful physicians could do, but to no avail. He passed silently away at 11:15 a. m. Friday.

It was so hard to give him up, although we know he has gone to join his dear companion and two loving children who were waiting for him beyond the Golden Gate with outstretched arms. We have only to follow in the footsteps of the Heavenly Guide to meet our loved ones who have gone on before. Dear loved ones, we must realize he is only sleeping a peaceful sleep, free from this world of pain and sorrow. We cannot understand why God would take our beloved, who has been both a father and mother to his children, whom he loved so dearly. He was faithful to them to the last moment. He realized the loneliness in their hearts for their mother's love and tried to comfort them. But God needed him more in heaven to fill the vacancy that only our loved one could fill. We long for his presence, just to look upon that dear face of kindness, but God took him to the White Throne where he will know no more sorrow. Our loss is heaven's gain, so let's just say "Thy Will Be Done," and strive to meet him on the other shore.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Cassie Boone and Mrs. Bessie Johnson, both of Cryer Creek community, one son, R. H. Brown of Emhouse and a dear sister, Mrs. Hassie Brown of Emhouse.

To these we must say grieve not, but recall the day of his death-bed that he sang: "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder, I'll Be There.

"Dear one, we miss your shinin face,
No one on earth can take your place.
Although our hearts are filled with sorrow,
We are looking forward to that glad tomorrow;
When we will join hands on that Golden Shore,
And parting with loved ones, we will know no more."

By his loving grand-daughter,
GERTIE RUTH BOONE.

BUSINESS FACES RECOVERY WITHOUT GOVERNMENT AIDS

MUST CHARGE OFF STAGGERING LOSSES AS RESULT OF OVERINFLATION

SAND SPRINGS, Okla., May 7.—(AP)—Business must find its own way out of the present depression with little help from the government, Dr. A. B. Adams, nationally known economist and dean of the College of Business Administration at the University of Oklahoma, declared today in an address before the and Springs Chamber of Commerce.

Modern capitalism, out of its babyhood and now in the stage of adolescence after 200 years of development, faces the unpleasant task of writing off its books a staggering loss as the result of over-inflation and its failure to distribute properly its ncome to consumers, the economist said.

Not until prices drop still further or wages are increased to the point where the great mass of consumers are abel to purshase goods turned out by America's highly efficient system of mass production will the point of industrial stablity be reached, Dean Adams said.

Reduction of the working hours of labor without reducing the wage rate per day and adoption of a policy of employing two sets of workers operating six hour shifts were recommended by Adams as possible aids in the solution of the employment problem.

THE EFFCE OF COLOR.

ECONOMY AND COLOR.

For those who have a wild desire to be extravagant, to go away somewhere for a change of surroundings, Miss Forbes has a message and an idea. Bring fresh, bright colors into your home in the way she suggests—it is like a change of air and scenery.

The general restlessness that comes at this time of year is well known. Everyone wants to go somewhere, do something different from what they have been during the past months. Spring fever, of course, which I find is at its worst about this time!

Of course, it's very nice to hop on a boat and go to Europe, or on a train and get to some quite different part of the country. It's even nice to be able to exchange country for city, or city for seashore. But we can't, very many of us, do these things when we want to.

But we can change our homes or our personal rooms, so they are quite different. And I think that after a long winter, one of the nicest things to do is to change all the colors one lives with. Which is the cheapest way out of mental and physical restlessness and depression. Besides the colors you live with help make you prettier; your setting is part of your personal appearance.

We'll not talk about clothes—today, at least. What about your bedroom, your living room? What colors are your background there? Perhaps you've a large supply of white sheets and pillow cases. Dye them! Why not? You can do it yourself, with a little care. Try a canary yellow if your room is gloomy and needs cheering up; this is a color for brunettes as well as blondes. Or French blue, or rose pink (not flesh pink, too insipid) or jade green. Apricot color, if you are brunette; vivid blue, if you are blonde and rather anaemic. Have you a white counterpane? By all means dye it; something very cheerful, to match your room decoration. Have you white furniture, or ugly modern oak? Enamel it—and make your working and living and sleeping rooms glow with color and life.

S. R.—A girl 16 years of age is in period of making changes rapidly, so neither too much nor too little weight should be considered a matter of importance. In a few more years there will be so much difference there will be nothing to do but wait for further development. Deep breathing exercises the diaphragm.

Mary D.—Hair that is of an auburn shade may easily have the stray grey hairs tinted with henna so they will barely be noticed, if you add henna to the soap lather when you shampoo. If you wish to completely obliterate them, you would have to go to much more work than the shampoo method. For instance, a simple shampoo, then a hot paste of henna applied with a brush along separated strands of hair until the whole head has been covered. After the hair has taken up the color, the paste is rinsed off and the head shampooed again. If you need any further information about this, please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I shall mail it to you.

Mrs. E. M. B.—I am sorry, but there is nothing you could paint over your nose that would reduce its size. As you are dieting to get rid of extra flesh all over, it is just possible that your nose will not be so fleshy after you have come down to normal weight.

H. T. S.—A girl of 17 might straighten the bones in her thighs that are slightly bowed if she learned just how to stand and walk so as to make the proper corrections. A chiropractor would be helpful in such a case.

ABOLITION FLOOR TRADING PROPOSED BY M. A. TRAYLOR

INTERNATIONAL CHAMBER COMMERCE HEARS DISCUSSION WAR DEBTS

WASHINGTON, May 5. (AP)—The controverted tariff and war debt questions came to the fore at the third plenary session today of the International Chamber of Commerce, along with a demand for abolition of floor trading on American exchanges and restrictions of marginal dealings to curb stock gambling by persons of small means.

Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States who last week called for tariff revisions with a view of improving American foreign trade, told the congress that business looked to the tariff commission for helpful readjustments in piece-meal fashion and that it would be "most unfortunate to reopen the tariff in the next session of congress."

The 1,000 delegates from two score nations heard inter-allied debts mentioned for the first time, through very cautiously, in speeches by Sir Alan G. Anderson, a director of the Bank of England, and Alberto Peritti, Italian industrialist.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—Abolition of floor trading, prohibition of marginal transactions for less than $10,000 and elimination of the "daily statement," with its attendant call money rates were suggested to the International Chamber of Commerce congress today by Melvin A. Traylor of Chicago.

The convention also heard its first discussion of the effects of war debts in the economic crisis. This question was brought up by Sir Alan G. Anderson, a director of the Bank of England, and Alberto Pirelli, Italian industrialist.

Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, demanded a new business leadership which will take into account the 'element of human conduct in economic affairs."

He said the human element, influenced by "ambition, cupidity, and greed," had failed utterly in the present crisis and the responsibility must rest with leaders.

Government co-operation is imperative but leadership must come from business, he said, in warning against government ownership, operation and price regulation.

Anderson, discussing a warning against placing the burden of international settlements on gold, asked if it would not be better to cancel such obligations.

"To cancel these international debts would not of itself cure the world's complaint," he said, "though the settlement of war debts seriously aggravates the world's troubles in these hard times."

Would Cancel War Debts.

He said Great Britain, the largest war creditor, cancelled a great surplus of debts owing her and the debtor nations would vote for an extension of this policy, but the creditor finds it hard to accept as impartial the advice of the debtor to forgive him what he owes."

"Under present circumstances," Pirelli said, "psychological factors may have a preponderating influence in determining the course of events. * * It is certain that in Europe interallied debts have a depressing effect which goes far beyond the amounts involved, entailing economic as well as psychological reactions."

J. S. Edstrom, a vice president of the international organization, and head of the Swedish delegation, told the congress that a "widening co-operation and increasing insight in the interdependence of economic cycles and economic progress will, we trust, provide better means of preventing repetition of a crisis of similar nature to the one we are now suffering from."

Floor Trade "Crap Shooting."

Likening floor trade to "plain crap-shooting," Traylor said if he were wrong in believing the present system should be changed, "then a large percentage of the people are wrong, for almost all believe the same thing."

To forestall speculation among the poorer classes, he proposed that exchange transactions involving less than $10,000 be restricted to cash. He said he would prefer to raise this to $50,000, but presented the smaller figure because it is the par value of a hundred shares of $100 par stock.

Bookkeeper Saves Valuable Jewels in Attempted Robbery

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP)—A bookkeeper's disregard of pistols in the hands of three holdup men saved gems valued at $450,000 in the 11th floor offices of Samuel Lenkowsky, diamond importer, today.

Samuel Siegel, the bookkeeper touched a signal sounding an alarm that brought several policemen to the building within a few moments.

Two of the men escaped, the third, pistol in hand, was captured several blocks away by a policeman.

FOG BLAMED FOR CRASH OF PLANE ON MOUNTAINSIDE

ART STARBUCK AND CHAS. R. PARMALEE FOUND DEAD IN PLANE WRECKAGE

BURBANK, Cal., May 6.—(AP)—Art Starbuck and Chas. R. Parmalee, pilots of a Pacific Air Transport mail plane, were found dead in the wreckage of their plane on a mountainside eight miles north of here today.

Flying the northbound night air mail from San Diego, the airmen met death in a heavy fog that shrouded this vicinity.

Officials of the Pacific Air Transport Company here said they were in touch with the plane by radio shortly before the ship crashed. The plane was flying at about 2500 feet, they said, and the pilots did not report they were unable to find the landing field, although a dense fog shrouded the city.

Both pilots were married and each had a child. Starbuck lived in Los Angeles, Parmalee in Oakland.

The plane left San Diego at 10:15 o'clock last night for Los Angeles, and shortly before midnight officials at the company's airport here heard the drone of one engine as the plane circled Burbank in a vain effort to locate the landing field.

Because of the dense fog scouting planes could not take up the search and lead the lost ship to its base.

At dawn two planes took off. The fog had lifted somewhat. Shortly afterward the mail plane was sighted on the mountain side. Both pilots were found strapped in their seats. The ship did not catch fire.

And on a private report that the sales of fertilizer tags and decreased 17.2 per cent during April.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, May 7.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today 3 points lower on May but generally 2 to 4 points higher on some overnight buying orders which evidently were brought in by the advance of late yesterday, while May was influenced by liquidation incident to the circulation of a few additional notices.

Reports of cold, rainy weather in the South may have encouraged some buying of later deliveries but the market was comparatively quiet after the opening with fluctuations rather narrow and irregular. At the end of the first half hour July was selling around 9.95 and Dec. 10.51, or about net unchanged to 4 points higher. Sales of fertilizer tags in the 13 Southern states for the five months of Dec Dec.-April are said to show a falling off of 28. per cent as compared with the same period last year. A private report was published placing the probable acreage at 41,511,000 acres, or 10.1 per cent reduction as compared with last year.

Liverpool cables said continental buying had been supplied by liquidation in that market.

Wheat closed irregular 1 5-8 cents lower to 1-8 advance, corn 5-8@1 3-4 down, oats unchanged to 3-8 to 1-2 off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 25 cents.

FIVE FOUND SLAIN IN FARM HOME BY NEIGHBORS TODAY

BLUE MOUNTAIN, Miss., May 6.—(AP)—A farmer, whose mind physicians described as affected by intense religious fervor, killed his wife, their two children, a boarder and himself in their home near here today.

Neighbors, apprehensive because no one was seen about the house this morning, investigated and found the bodies of A. W. Carter, his wife, Mrs. Nora Mattox Carter, their children, Martha, 9, and Mary, 8, and Miss Anne Jeffries, the boarder, lying inside the building.

A coroner's jury decided Carter stabbed and beat the others to death and then shot himself.

Doctors told officials they recently had warned members of Carter's family of his mental condition, brought on, they said, by religious fanaticism.

The wife, Mrs. Nora Mattox Carter, 38; two children, Martha and Mary, and Miss Anne Jeffries, 65, were beaten to death with a hammer. Carter's death was caused by a shotgun wound.

Mrs. Carter's skull was crushed and her body badly beaten. The children apparently were killed with one blow of the hammer. Miss Jeffries' face was crushed.

The bodies were found by neighbors who went to the Carter home when members of the family did not appear about the dwelling at the usual hour this morning.

Charles Howard, a farmer who led the searching party, told officers cries were heard during the night, apparently emanating from the Carter home.
